Allied Plan for Korea Parley Given to Reds

U.S. May Ask For Curbs on Reds' Stalling

Dim View Taken by State Department on Agreement to Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States probably will ask Britain and France, when representatives of the three meet at Bermuda, to get set to counter any Russian plan for stalling the European Army project through a four-power meeting.

Since the Soviets Thursday night sprang their surprise acceptance of a four-power meeting without the hampering conditions that they had insisted on earlier, the State Department has been considering what reply the Western Big Three might make.

Session Will Be Held

Although the United States publicly has taken a much dimmer view of the outlook for success of a Big Four meeting than have its allies, it seemed almost certain that the session of foreign ministers will be held, if the Soviets mean what they now say.

But informed observers said that when President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel meet with their foreign ministers in Bermuda next Friday, the United States' spokesmen will call for tight arrangements to be made against Soviet disruptive tactics.

Pre - conference arrangements could be tightened up either by getting the Russians to adopt a somewhat more limited agenda than they have proposed or by getting agreement among the Western powers that if the Berlin meeting developed as a mere propaganda battle they would wind it up after a reasonable time and get back to the business of building Western defenses.

Diverse Reactions

To date the reactions of the three Western nations have appeared more diverse than coordinated. A British Foreign Office spokesman said yesterday that Britain "welcomes the acceptance of the proposal for a four-power meeting which the Western Powers have renewed several times."

French Premier Joseph Laniel was quoted as saying that the Soviet note could mean the beginning of a new climate in international relations.

United States reaction, as expressed in a statement by the State Department, differed markedly from that of Britain and France. The U. S. comment accused the Rusian of maneuvering to stall West German rearmament, said the note showed no evidence of change in Kremlin policies and branded it as a defensive effort to "gloss over the uncompromising nature of Soviet policy" in earlier dealings with the West.

Soviet Maneuver

By American analysis, the Soviet maneuver is aimed at persuading the world that Moscow is more friendly than it has recently seemed. They say Russia hopes in this manner to stall French progress on ratification of the European Defense Community (EDC) treaty, which in turn would block the rearmament of West Germany. The problem is extremely delicate because while the French government squeaked through on a confidence vote on the army issue yesterday, many deputies refrained from balloting.

Business, Civic Leader

David J. Isaly, 35, Dies Unexpectedly

David J. Isaly, 35, official of the Isaly Dairy Co., and a leader in community welfare work, died at 6:45 a.m. today in his home at 708 Uhler Rd. after an illness of a week. He was treasurer and general manager of the Isaly Dairy Co. in Marion of which a brother, William R. Isaly of Columbus, is president.

Member of a family which pioneered in the dairy business during the early history of Ohio, he was a son of Charles H. Isaly who came to Marion prior to World War I. His great grandfather founded the business as a maker of cheese on coming to Monroe County from Switzerland. At one time his father was president of the Isaly Dairy companies of Marion, Columbus, and Youngstown, in Ohio, and of the Pittsburgh, Pa., branch.

THE FAMILY purchased the old Marion Pure Milk Co., which was located on N. Prospect St., and when Charles H. Isaly came here, in 1914 he became manager of the new company. He was one of four brothers engaged in the dairying business which had been handed down by their father. Charles Isaly died in Marion in August, 1942. One of the four, H. W Isaly, is still living in Pittsburgh.

After serving in the U. S. Navy during World War II, David Isaly returned to Marion as supervisor and head buyer for the Isaly stores here before being promoted to the positions he held at the time of his death.

Having attended Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Va., he was graduated from Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. In 1942 he was graduated from the Navy Supply Corps School at Harvard University at Cambridge, Mass., as an ensign. He was released from active duty after the war as a full lieutenant.

HIS ACTIVITIES in civic affairs included chairmanship of the Marion County United Appeals Campaign committee. Two years ago, he headed the Marion County March of Dimes. He was a mem

Public 'Misled'

GOP Congressman Blasts Social Security Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House subcommittee charges that American wage earners were "misled" for nearly 18 years into believing they had ironclad rights to government old age insurance benefits.

Chairman Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb) said last night that people who have been contributing regularly to the program via payroll deductions actually are not protected by written contracts or policies such as they would get from private firms and that Congress can change provisions of the law whenever it sees fit to do so.

Curtis' Ways and Means subcommittee completed two weeks of hearings on the social security system, with former Social Security Commissioner Arthur J. Altmeyer as final witness.

Altmeyer debated the issue with Curtis and Subcommittee Counsel Robert H. Winn for seven hours in a hearing that erupted more than once into verbal rows.

Democratic Representatives Dingell of Michigan and Eberharter of Pennsylvania interrupted the testimony at frequent intervals to protest questioning methods used by Winn and Curtiss.

At the close of the hearing that ran into the evening, Curtis told Altmeyer that agencies under his direction during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations "repeatedly told the people of the country that they had insurance."

The Nebraskan said "a number of people were misled," including himself. He said he used to think the government "had a contractual obligation to fulfill (social security) benefits."

He said that when the Eisenhower administration took over last winter, 90 million people were contributing to the program through payroll taxes, but that 6 out of 10 persons are ineligible for one reason or another.

Curtis predicted that this Congress will "write some good social security legislation."

Altmeyer, an architect of the program that began in 1935, acknowledged the absence of actual policies or contracts, but he contended that "the full faith and credit" of the United States lies behind the social security rights created by law.

Democrats complained that Altmeyer had been subpoenaed and that they were not consulted. Altmeyer said the order to apear came as a surprise because he said he had offered to testify at the approriate time.

Rep. Robinson To Head State Housing Group

Kenneth A. Robinson, Marion County representative to the General Assembly, has been named vice chairman of the state office housing commission, a new group which held its first meeting Friday.

The commission was created by the last Legislature to study the problem of getting a state building to house offices now scattered about the city.

Sen. William H. Deddens (R) of Hamilton was named chairman of the group while Rep. Ed Wallace (D) of Pickaway was named secretary.

The commission's next meeting has been scheduled for Dec. 11.

Red Airman Rewarded For Turning Over MIG

TOKYO (AP)—A North Korean airman who turned a Communist MIG jet over to the Allies has been paid a $100,000 reward.

The money was presented to Senior Lt. No Kum Sok, who landed his Russian-built fighter at a South Korean air base last summer and was granted asylum.

The Air Force said the pilot asked that a trust fund be set up to cover his educational expenses in the United States and to support his mother in South Korea.

Ike To Seek Puerto Rican Independence

He Promises Action Whenever They Want It, Assembly Is Told

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—President Eisenhower has promised to move for complete Puerto Rican independence any time the Legislature of that Caribbean commonwealth asks for it.

The offer was announced to the U.N. General Assembly last night by chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Speaking during debate on proposed measures to determine when a dependent territory becomes self-governing, Lodge said:

"I am authorized to say on behalf of the President that at any time the Legislative Assembly of Puerto Rico adopts a resolution in favor of more complete or even absolute independence, he will immediately recommend to Congress that such independence be granted."

'Magnificent Attitude'

Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin declared in San Juan:

"This is a magnificent attitude which does honor to the United States and will show America and the whole world the sincerity of the present relationship of voluntary association between the United States and Puerto Rico.'

The island, taken by the United States during the Spanish-American War of 1898, was recently given self-governing status as a commonwealth associated with the United States. Some U. N. delegates have contended that this status is meaningless and that in reality Puerto Rico is still a dependent territory.

This viewpoint lost out in Assembly, however, when the 60-nation group adopted a resolution declaring the island no longer comes within the meaning of the term "non-self-governing territory" as defined by the U.N. Charter. The vote was 22-16, with 18 nations abstaining.

Atrocity Debate Due

Lodge is slated to touch off the heralded Korean atrocity debate when the Assembly resumes Monday with demands that the body condemn the Red torture killings in strongest terms.

U.N. sources said he will introduce a biting resolution—co-sponsored by Britain, France, Turkey, and Australia—voicing the Assembly's "grave concern" over the killings and warning against repetition of such "inhumane" acts.

Informed sources predicted the Soviet bloc, which bitterly fought placing the item on the Assembly agenda, will come up with charges that South Koreans committed some atrocities of their own.

One informant said if the Reds try that tack they "will get their brains knocked out in the debate." He declared the U.S. delegation has a "devastating" mass of documentary evidence to bolster the original U.S. Army report, which claimed the Reds killed at least 30,000 persons, including 6,000 Americans, by torture or starvation.

A number of "neutral" nations indicated then they felt that with the Korean political conference in the offing the United States had picked a poor time to bring up the atrocity issue. Some also said they did not think the U.S. Army report was sufficient evidence to warrant U.N. action.

Chiang, Rhee Vow To Stand Against Reds

Leaders of Nationalist China, South Korea Call for United Front

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China and South Korea today announced that they "stand firmly united" in the battle against communism and called for a united Asiatic front strongly backed by the United States.

A joint statement issued during secret conferences here between Generalissimo Chiang Kai - shek and South Korea's Syngman Rhee did not say flatly that a formal alliance has been agreed upon.

But the statement indicated clearly the two bitter foes of communism have joined forces and hope their alliance will serve as a basis for a united front of Democratic nations in the Pacific.

Rhee arrived in Taipeh yesterday after a secret flight from Seoul. There has been no announcement when he will return, but a 5th Air Force announcement in Seoul indicated he will be home by Tuesday.

Rhee is scheduled to present a presidential unit citation to the Air Force at noon Tuesday.

Rhee and Chiang huddled for several hours Friday, then went into conference again after a leisurely breakfast together Saturday morning.

Their joint statement expressed conviction that "victory over communism in Asia is the key to world peace and stability."

"The governments and peoples of our two countries stand firmly united in our determination to mobilize all our morale and material forces to defeat the aggressors in Asia," they declared.

Rhee and Chiang affirmed that they would not fail "those stout-hearted anti-Communist prisoners of war in Korea who have so nobly placed liberty above all else."

And they voiced determination "to carry on the fight against communist aggression until those of our brethren who have been enslaved are restored their liberty."

Bentley Series on U.S. Reds To Begin Monday

Why do Americans join the Communist party? Why do they treacherously spy on their own government for a foreign power? What's it like to live in this shady world of espionage?

Elizabeth Bentley, former Soviet spy, tells the dramatic story of spy-ring operations in the United States in a six-part series starting Monday in The Star.

She reveals how she was lured into the Communist party; her work with top Red officials; discloses names of her associates and contacts, and tells how she left this vengeful and demanding organization.

Don't miss the first article in this vital series, important to every American, in Monday's Star!

Nobel Prize Winner

Eugene O'Neill, Honored Playwright, Author Dies

BOSTON (AP) — Eugene O'Neill, whose dramas captivated audiences for two decades, died quietly last night of pneumonia. He was 65.

The playwright, a Nobel Prize winner and three-time Pulitzer Prize winner in literature, had roamed the world for material until recent years, when he was stricken by Parkinson's disease. That ailment—a form of palsy—gradually cut down his activities until writing became impossible.

Wife at Bedside

At his bedside at his home last night were his third wife, the former Carlotta Monterey, his physician, Dr. Harry L. Kozol, and his nurse. Dr. Kozol said death was caused by bronchial pneumonia.

High point in his long career was in 1936 when he was awarded the Nobel Prize in literature. The award committee did not cite any particular work but O'Neill considered his play "Mourning Becomes Electra" a strong factor in the choice.

That prize was only one of the many honors won by the prolific playwright, who had more than two score plays produced. His Pulitzer Prizes were for "Beyond the Horizon," 1920; "Anna Christie," 1922; and "Strange Interlude," 1928.

On receiving news of O'Neill's death, George Jean Nathan, influential newspaper and magazine drama critic, said in New York the American theater had lost its greatest playwright and "I have lost one of my longest and dearest friends."

'Iceman' Last Broadway Play

Nathan was one of the first to recognize O'Neill's talents and started to open Broadway doors for him in 1917. O'Neill's last Broadway play was "The Iceman Cometh" in 1946.

Other O'Neill plays includes: "The Emperor Jones, "The Straw," "Desire Under the Elms," "Marco Millions,' "Ah, Wilderness," "Days Without End," "The Fountain," and "All God's Chillun Got Wings."

And his one-act plays were equally famous. They included "The Long Voyage Home," "The Dreamy Kid," "The Rope," and "Bound East for Cardiff."

After 'Days Without End" was produced in 1934, O'Neill was away from the stage until 1946, when "The Iceman Cometh" arrived on Broadway. That drama, laid in a Hell's Kitchen saloon, had drunks and bums as main characters, and the iceman was death.

Goes Into Seclusion

Then O'Neill went into seclusion until 1948, when he and his wife left the Broadway scene. They bought a small house on point of rocks in Marblehead, Mass., near the sea which had surged through many of his plays.

However, there are three plays which he left completed, one of which has been seen off Broadway and two which have never been performed.

"A Moon for the Misbegotten" had its premiere in Columbus, O., then played Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis. "A Touch of the Poet" has not yet been seen on the stage. There is also a third play, "A Long Day's Journey Into Night", which O'Neill specified was not to be produced until 25 years after his death.

The noted playwright was known

British Queen Sails Toward Panama Canal

PANAMA, Panama (AP)—Touring Queen Elizabeth II and her entourage sailed toward the Panama Canal today aboard the British cargo-passenger ship Gothic. The royal party is due in the Canal Zone tomorrow for a hurried round of events as guests of the United States and Panama.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh boarded the glistening white, 15,902-ton Gothic in Jamaica yesterday, two days after they arrived in the colony by plane from Bermuda and London. The ship, carrying its usual pay load of British cargo, will take them on most of their six-month round-the-world tour of commonwealth nations and British possessions and protectorates.

Only in the 500-square-mile Panama Canal zone will the Queen be under the American flag.

A split-second program of military honors, sightseeing tours and receptions ashore has been arranged by U. S. and Panamanian officials. The Queen will pick up the Gothic at midnight tomorrow on the Pacific side to sail early Monday for New Zealand and Australia via the Fiji and Tonga Islands.

Communists Will Counter With Another

Dean's Formula Would Allow Non-Belligerents To Attend Conference

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Allies today handed the Communists detailed plans for a Korean peace conference, but the Reds said they could see no merit in the proposal and would unveil one of their own Monday.

Special U. S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean presented a 12-point formula which would allow non-belligerent nations with a direct interest in Korea to attend the conference as non-voting observers.

Russia would attend as a full member on the Communist side of the table—not as a neutral as the Reds demand.

Allies Endorse Plan

Dean said the 16 United Nations which fought in Korea and South Korea's President Syngman Rhee have endorsed the plan.

The envoy also said Rhee promised him not to resume hostilities while a peace conference is underway and to cooperate fully at the conference.

The fiery South Korean President has said repeatedly he would order his American-trained divisions northward unless progress is made toward unifying his country by late January.

Negotiations to set up the peace conference revert to full-scale plenary sessions Monday at the request of the Reds. The diplomats have met as two subcommittees since Nov. 16.

Suggests Geneva

Dean suggested Friday that the Korean peace conference be held at Geneva, Switzerland, "not less than 28 nor more than 42 days" after termination of the current preliminary talks.

He told the Communists:

'This integrated proposal is made in the interest of the early convening of the political conference. It is predicated upon the theory that we will be able to agree upon it within a relatively short time . . . "Your acceptance will represent real progress. "

The Reds called two recesses totalling 45 minutes to consider Dean's proposal.

Dean limited neutrals eligible for invitations to the peace conference to those which have had direct

2 Dead, 45,000 Homeless After Blaze in Pusan

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—One-sixth of this teeming port city of one million population smouldered tonight after an all-night fire that scorched a 1½-mile swath, left at least three Koreans dead and leveled 6,000 homes and buildings.

Twenty Koreans were hurt and two Korean firemen were overcome by smoke.

Police said two children and a 26-year-old man were dead.

The U.S. Army estimated damage to this refugee-chocked city at 20 million dollars. The blaze raged for nearly 12 hours.

It was one of the most devastating fires in Korean history.

Relief agencies rushed aid to 45,000 left homeless. Many were given temporary shelter in U.S. Army warehouses, theaters and schools.

Others poked about in the seared ruins looking for personal belongings.

A crisp, chilling wind failed to disperse a cloud of balck smoke over the city. Little tongues of

On Convention Program

Noted Lutheran Church Leader Will Speak Here

Rev. Paul C. Empie of New York City, executive director of the National Lutheran Council, will be in Marion Sunday at Emanuel Lutheran Church to speak Sunday morning at the convention of Luther Leagues of the Ohio District meeting here. Taking part in the service will be the host church pastor, Rev. M. E. Hollensen. Attendance at the convention is approximately 500.

Intermediate and Senior Choirs of the church, directed by William Dowler and Homer Huffman, respectively, will sing.

FOLLOWING WORSHIP, the delegates will be served dinner in the church parlors, then the convention will be brought to a close. The pastor will serve as liturgist for the morning service, and Mrs. Richard Curren will preside at the organ. Emanuel Church has been host to the convention since Friday afternoon.

The National Lutheran Council, of which Rev. Empie was elected director in 1948, is the co-operative agency for eight Lutheran bodies representing more than four million members, or two-thirds of American Lutheranism. As executive director, he heads also the USA committee for the Lutheran World Federation with responsibility for the committee's program of relief and reconstruction. This includes administration of funds raised by Lutheran World Action, annual fund appeal sponsored by the council for church work abroad.

REV. PAUL C. EMPIE

IN 1946, Rev. Empie first went to Europe to study relief needs in Austria, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany and Poland. Since then he has regularly made at least one extended trip abroad each year in inspect relief work.

He attended the Lutheran World Federation's Second Assembly at Hannover, Germany, July 25 to Aug. 3, 1952, as a delegate from the United Lutheran Church in America.

In 1948 he attended the formative Assembly of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, Holland, as an alternate delegate of the United Lutheran Church in America.

During the LWF at Hanover, he was honored with a doctor of theology degree by the German University of Goettingen.

This was the fourth honorary degree he had received since 1944, when Muhlenberg College at Allentown, Pa., conferred upon him an honorary doctor of divinity degree. In 1950 he received an honorary Doctor of Laws Degree from Capital University at Columbus, O., and in 1951 he was honored with an honorary L.H.D. degree from Hartwick College at Oneonta, N. Y.

6 Face Charge In Big Robbery

FBI Reported Ready To Seek Indictments

BOSTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation today was reported to be preparing to seek federal indictments against six persons in the $681,700 robbery of an armored truck in Danvers 20 months ago.

The disclosure last night said the indictments to be asked will charge three persons with being participants, one with having knowledge of the robbery plans, and two with having received part of the loot.

Authorities reportedly said the FBI will seek an indictment charging "active participation in the robbery" against George D. O'Brien of Wollaston. The FBI, however, declined comment.

O'Brien's son, George D. Jr., 19 year old Massachusetts Institute of Technology student, was freed on bail yesterday when a relative posted $5,000 bail. The youth is charged with receiving some of the money.

The elder O'Brien, his wife, Margaret, 42, and the son were arrested Wednesday night by FBI agents at their Wollaston home. Mrs. O'Brien, also charged with receiving stolen property, was released in $1,000 bail. O'Brien has been unable to raise the $100,000 bail set by a U. S. commissioner on charges of participating in the cash robbery.

The O'Briens were arrested after the FBI said money stolen from the unguarded truck in Danvers was tracked to O'Brien after he made a cash payment for articles bought in a Boston store.

Question of Racial Restrictions Raised At Fraternity Meet

CINCINNATI (AP)—The controversial question of racial and religious restrictions among university fraternities was raised today at the National Interfraternity Conference.

But the question will not be settled by any vote favoring or frowning on the restrictions, a fraternity spokesman said.

The issue was brought to the fore yesterday in a panel discussion. The president of the University of Rhode Island, Dr. Carl R. Woodward, proposed the national social groups cut down bars based on religious and racial differences.

Some of the 61 national bodies here will not allow Negroes, or Jews, or Orientals into membership. There was no official rundown of how many have such restrictions.

Dr. Woodward defended the right of fraternities to use the "principle of selective membership" in choosing new members. He said the right was basic to the democratic heritage of freedom and self-determination.

But, he said, the fraternities would be wise "to remove restrictions of membership that stem from racial origin or religious affiliation."

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University and director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, also asked the fraternities to judge a man for his ability, ignoring race, color and creed.

Two of Dr. Woodward's fellow panelists blasted the argument that restrictions should be lifted. Opposing the move were W. A. Shideler, geology professor at Miami University, and D. R. Collins, national president of Phi Sigma Kapa Fraternity.

Evangelist Will Lead Revival in Mt. Gilead

Rev. Harold Richardson of Muncie, Ind., will open revival services at the Mt. Gilead Church of the Nazarene Dec. 1. He will be accompanied by his wife who gives flannelboard scenes. In addition the Richardsons sing. These public services will continue through Dec. 13, the pastor, Rev. James Leonard, announced.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Enthusiasm Can Work Miracles

Some years ago, the wife of a former British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, lay dying. She called her husband to her bedside because there was a message she felt she must leave with him before she died. And these were her words: "Whatever else you, do, put romance and enthusiasm into the lives of our childiren."

DR. PEALE

I think that this is one of the wisest deathbed statements I have ever read, for what greater inheritance could any mother pass on than to give her children the romance of living and eager enthusiasm for life itself.

Are you an enthusiastic person? Do you constantly feel a sense of dynamic energy throughout your entire being? Do you get a tremendous thrill from living? If you must honestly say, "No," in response to any of these questions, God help you, for no one is fully realizing his possibilities who does not have his share of enthusiasm.

SHORTLY AFTER Sir Edward Appleton, of the University of Edinburgh in Scotland, was awarded the Nobel Prize for his work in physics, he was asked his secret of success. He told the interviewer he could answer in only one word: "Enthusiasm." And he added, "I would put enthusiasm above professional skill."

When the president of a great American railroad was asked a similar question, he replied, "The greatest asset that any man in business can possess is enthusiasm. If you have two men, one with more intellectual equipment and better training than the other; if the other has more enthusiasm, he will outdistance the first."

Yale's late great Professor William Lyon Phelps used to lecture to audiences of school teachers on "The Excitement of Teaching." I once commented to him that some teachers didn't seem to me to be too excited about it all.

"Why," he said, "it's the greatest excitement in the world to teach. And to do it well, the one thing you must get is enthusiasm."

INDEED, enthusiasm can work miracles for anyone. If, after reading this, you get a new birth of enthusiasm, the people around you will not know you. You will carry that enthusiasm with you to your office tomorrow morning and you will seem a different person. And you will indeed be different. It is all too easy to settle down into routine, monotony and deadness—too many of us yield to the temptation. But enthusiasm has the power to revitalize anyone.

How does one get enthusiasm? There is an easy answer to that question in the derivation of the word itself. It comes from the Greek words, "en theos," which mean "in God" and the dictionary tells us that the literal meaning of the word is "possessed by God."

The Bible tells us, "In Him we live, and move, and have our being." So the secret of enthusiasm is to get into contact with the flow of Divine energy and creative power which comes from God. Don't cut yourself off from it. Instead, get yourself in tune with the vibratory forces of the universe, become possessed by the powerful force that flows from God.

Enthusiasm can work miracles for you. Fill yourself with it and learn for yourself.

RICHARD THOMAS
Speaker for Foremen's Club

Former U.S. Army Intelligence Officer Will Address Club

Richard Thomas, former Army intelligence officer, will be the main speaker at a meeting of the Marion Foremen's Club Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Thomas, a native of Chicago and graduate of Harvard University and the University of Paris, spent most of the 1930's and early 1940's touring Europe as a roving correspondent.

In 1945, he was given special Army training in intelligence work, then sent to the Pacific where he served in several island outposts, and finally in Japan and Korea.

His tour of duty was not ended until 1948. Before being given an honorable discharge, he was sent from one end of the Moslem world to the other.

Following his discharge, he travelled through the Caribbean and Central American region. After that trip, he joined the New York Times, where he is employed as a writer of foreign and domestic affairs for the paper's radio station, WQXR.

Tuesday's meeting will be held, as usual, at Columbian Hall. Thomas' speech will be preceded by a regular business meeting.

By a 1644 order of the Massachusetts general court, workers at America's first successful ironworks at Saugus, Mass., were exempted from military training and "watching for Indians."

Murphy Serves Again

Former Marion Mayor To Take Mt. Gilead Post

By DELORES BASINGER

A former Marion mayor, who stepped out of the political picture about 33 years ago, will take the top spot at Mt. Gilead in January.

Emery Murphy, an active figure in Marion government from 1916-1930, will be sitting in the mayor's chair again come Jan. 1. He defeated two candidates for the post in one of Morrow County's hottest election campaigns this November.

MURPHY FILLED an unexpired term as Marion mayor from 1929-30 when Mayor Earl Hazen died. He had served on the City Council for four terms, as safety service director and as council president for two years. At the time he served as mayor he also was employed at the Marion Steam Shovel Co., where he worked for 32 years. He was a machine shop foreman.

He moved to Mt. Gilead in 1933 where he was employed as machine shop foreman for 19 years at Hydraulic Manufacturing Co. He, apparently, was going to forget about mayoralties and such things.

BUT THIS FALL 73-year-old Murphy's name appeared on the ballot and Mt. Gilead residents chose him to lead them through the next four years. He's not sure what issues will arise during the next four years, however, he mentioned that discussion of parking meters, which the village does not have, is one possibility.

The outstanding issue during his term as Marion mayor, Murphy commented, was the widening of Center St. The thoroughfare, at that time, was 48 feet wide. Outcome of the issue resulted in the street being widened six feet on both sides to its present 60 foot span.

He also reminisced of Warren G. Harding's time and described his "front porch" campaign. He said he thought of Harding as "a very nice person."

ALTHOUGH HE ADMITS he's 73, the mayor-elect doesn't look over 60. He had no explanation for his good health, only laughed and said he "must have lived right."

He's the father of nine children, six boys and three girls, Edward G. of Mt. Gilead, with whom he lives; Clayton of Mansfield, Samuel of Cleveland, Donald of Lima, James of Sandusky, Robert of Evansville, Ind., Mrs. Mabel Rice of Marion, Mrs. Betty Holloway of Fies Ave., Marion, and Mrs. Sara Gillespie of Gallipolis. He has 13 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

His wife, the former Dora Carpenter, a Marion resident, died in 1937.

Although, he has no regular hobby, the former Marionite said he enjoys horse racing. He said he believes he's seen every one of the famed Little Brown Jug races held each year during the county fair at Delaware.

Previews of the Coming Attractions at the Local Theaters

BING CROSBY, star of the film, Gabrielle Dorziat as the Mother Superior, and Christian Fourcade, the little lost boy of the title, appear above in a scene from the film, "Little Boy Lostt," which will be one attraction of a double feature Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater.

'Little Boy Lost' Main Feature on Palace Bill

"Little Boy Lost," a warm, human story that concerns a man and his search for a missing child, will be the main attraction of a double feature Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater. Bing Crosby is starred.

Completing the billing will be "The Fake," starring Dennis O'Keefe and Coleen Gray.

In the former picture, Crosby is a foreign correspondent, who while covering France before the Nazi invasion, married a French girl. They had a child but were separated at the time of its birth. Now, seven years later Crosby returns to France to search for the boy. The wife is dead, having been killed by the Gestapo while working for the underground.

Evenutally he trail leads to a youngster in a French orphanage, a lad the reporter first feels could be no stretch of the imagination be his own off-spring. The story tells of his gradual awakening to the fact that he seeks the son more as an emotional bridge with his dead wife than for he child's own sake, and the action he takes.

"The Fake" deals with the efforts of two detectives—one American and one English—to recover a priceless Da Vinci painting stolen by a gang of international crooks.

The attractions Thursday through Saturday will be "Devil's Canyon" co-starring Virginia Mayo, Dale Robertson, Stephen McNally and Arthur Hunnicutt, and "99 River Street" with John Payne and Evelyn Keyes.

The story in "Devil's Canyon" deals with a beautiful bandit queen who is caged with 500 desperate men in an infamous outpost in Arizona Territory. Around this situation revolves an unusual triangular romance involving the woman outlaw, a former U. S. Marshal unjustly accused of murder, and a gun-crazy killer.

The latter is a suspense thriller of a taxi driver, an actress and a murder frame.

Doris Day, Howard Keel Team Up in Film at Ohio

"Calamity Jane," technicolor western musical starring Doris Day and Howard Keel, is the current attraction through Monday at the Ohio Theater.

It is the story of one of the Wild West's most fabulous characters. Doris Day plays the title role of Martha Canary, hearalded girl of the west who as a beautiful lass in buckskins was reputed to be a dead shot with six-gun, a horsewoman second to none, and a whiz with the bull whip.

Billed for Tuesday through Thursday is a double feature, "3 Girls From Rome" starring Lucia Bose, Cosetta Greco and Liliana Bonfatti, and "Mexican Manhunt" with George Brent.

The former tells the story of three young seamstresses who work at the fashionable Fontana salon in Rome and spend their lunch hours exchanging romantic confidences on the steps of the Piazza di Spagna.

George Brent appears in the latter as a novelist, resident of Los Angeles, who receives a tip from south of the border, and sets out single-handed to clear up a 15-year-old mystery.

The attractions starting Friday will be "Fighter Attack" and "Private Eyes." The former stars Sterling Hayden, Joy Page and J. Carrol Naish, and heading the cast in the latter are Leo Gorcy and the Bowery Boys, featuring Huntz Hall with Joyce Holden.

"Fighter Attack" is the story of a fighter squadron leader flying out of Corsica to blast a German supply dump. Hayden's plane is shot down and he parachutes to safety, finding refuge with the guerrillas.

In "Private Eyes," the Bowery lads are private detectives on the trail of a gang of fur thieves using as a dupe a beautiful and long-legged blonde.

Ma and Pa Kettle Film On State Theater Bill

"Ma and Pa Kettle on Vacation" starring Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride, and "Fighting Redhead" with Little Beaver, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Somebody Loves Me," in technicolor, and "Torpedo Alley." The former stars Betty Hutton and Ralph Meeker, and heading the cast in the latter are Mark Stevens and Dorothy Malone.

David Niven and Joan Caulfield are stars of the film, "The Lady Says No," which will be the main attraction of a double feature playing Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be "The Vanquished," in technicolor and starring John Payne and Jan Sterling.

Saturday only, the attractions will be "Tropic Zone," in technicolor, starring Ronald Reagan and Estelita, and "Wyoming Bandit" with Allan "Rocky" Lane.

DORIS DAY is shown above in a musical scene from the technicolor western picture, "Calamity Jane," which is the current attraction through Monday at the Ohio Theater. Also starred is Howard Keel.

'Killer Shark' at Marion With Western Adventure

"The Untamed Breed" starring Sonny Tufts, Barbara Britton and George "Gabby" Hayes, and "Killer Shark," will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

The former casts Tufts as a Texas wrangler who runs into a peck of trouble when he talks Pecos country ranchers into buying a giant Brahma bull. The bull breaks loose and when his attempts fail to recapture the animal he sets out to capture and break a fabulous wild stallion and then go after the bull.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "She's Back On Broadway" and "The Woman In the Window." The former stars Virginia Mayo, Gene Nelson, Frank Lovejoy, Steve Cochran and Patrice Wymore, and heading the cast in the latter are Edward G. Robinson and Joan Bennett.

The story in the former is about a Hollywood star who seeks a career on the Broadway stage. The latter picture tells the inner conflict of a man who, though happily married and the father of two children, becomes involved in a

Extra Milking Hikes Production, Tests Show

Milking cows three times a day will produce up to 20 per cent more milk, according to a report from the Midwest Farm News Service.

The report indicates the extra milking need not be done at eight-hour intervals, but may be spaced to suit the convenience of the farmer. A sample time schedule given was milking at 7 a.m., 2 p.m., and 9 p.m.

Even more varied schedules may be followed with no detrimental results. As much as a 16-hour time lapse between milkings was found to have no bad effect on the amount of production.

Most Popular Number

'Swan Lake' on Ballet Russe Program

The opening number of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo Concert Company's program tonight at the Palace Theater will be "Swan Lake," first produced in St. Petersburg in 1876 as a ballet in four acts. The second act, the most popular, is the one performed today by almost every ballet company in the world and is called "Swan Lake." The music is Tchaikovsky's first composition written specifically for ballet.

The program, the first of the Marion Community Concert Association's 1953-54 season, will open at 8:15 p.m.

Other programmed numbers are "The Blue Bird and the Enchanted Princess," "Cirque de Deux" and "Gaite Parisienne."

In the opening number the Swan Queen, a beautiful princess, has been transformed into a swan by a sorcerer. During a brief hour each day she assumes her human form. It is during this hour that a prince and his friends while hunting in a forest, meet her. The prince falls in love with her, they dance in the moonlight, an as the hour draws to an end the Swan Queen is called away by the sorcerer, leaving the broken hearted prince behind.

"The Blue Bird" is the story of an enchanted princess who has a wicked stepmother. A young king falls in love with her, and since she is not allowed to see anyone, comes to her disguised as a bluebird.

"Cirque de Deux," (Circus for Two) is danced by Miss Moscelyne Larkin and Fernando Schaffenburg, assisted by Miss Christine Hennessy and Joseph Busheme, is a spectacular number. The "Gaite Parisienne" presents the ballet in the famous Cafe Tortoni in Paris. As the curtain rises the cafe is being made ready for the evening. The principal characters are the glove seller and the flower girl of the cafe and two visitors, a wealthy Peruvian and a handsome Austian baron. The high spot of the evening of gaiety and romance is the appearance of the Can-Can Dancers. After the entertainment is over the guests leave in couples and only the Peruvian remains unattached.

L. G. Jones is in charge of the door and other arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Harry T. Williams, Lester L. Dickey, Homer Hoffman, Mrs. T. L. Berg, and Mrs. LeRoy Schneider. Dr. Neil Price is president of the association.

murder with a beautiful young woman as his accomplice.

The attractions Thursday through Saturday will be "The Beast From 20,000 Fathoms" co-starring Paul Christian, Paula Raymond and Cecil Kellaway, and "Down Laredo Way" with Rex Allen and Koko the wonder horse.

The fascinating tale of a prehistoric monster that comes back to life to attack a modern-day city is told in the former film.

Among circus animals, zoologists rank the chimpanzee first in intelligence, the orangutan second, and the elephant third.

Snow, Rain Moves Into New England

By The Associated Press

Snow and rain fell in eastern parts of the country today as a late November cold spell continued over wide areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

The snow storm which hit most of the Great Lakes region yesterday moved eastward into the Middle Atlantic states and parts of New England. However, most of the precipitation in New England was rain. Snow falls generally were light, ranging from one to three inches in the eastern areas.

There were showers in sections of the Gulf states. On the West Coast rain moved eastward with showers reported from the northern Rockies to the Western Dakotas.

Fair weather prevailed over the Plains states and the southern half of the country, with temperatures in the 40s and 50s in the Southeastern and Gulf states and in the low 40s over most of Texas and New Mexico.

Tragedy Shadows Couple Who Ran Off 22 Years Ago

ORANGE, Tex. (AP)—The 22-year-old love idyll of Betty McCuddy and Tom Buntin was shadowed by tragedy today after their second grandchild, a girl, was born dead.

Tom and Betty, who became Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Palmer after they disapeared in 1931 from their homes in Nashville, Tenn., and Russellville, Ky., had feared it would happen.

Ever since their secret love became public knowledge Thursday, they had tried to protect their pregnant daughter Elizabeth, from the excitement of publicity.

"Please," Betty, now a court stenographer, had told reporters, "don't ask me questions now. Come back in a few days and I'll talk gladly, but not now."

"Give us time to think things over," Tom, a television salesman, had said.

The man who had been a prominent Nashville insurance executive and the pretty young woman who had been his secretary—both long declared dead — only Thursday emerged as a happy couple with six children in this little Gulf Coast friends, yfele oescrngr- woblinuch refining center.

In the deep gloom after their old secret became known, they were surrounded almost immediately by friends, neighbors and fellow church-goers who sought to reassure and protect them. Their manners became more carefree.

KOREAN TO SPEAK

GALION — Mrs. Induk Pahk of Korea will speak Sunday morning at First Methodist Church at the annual Thankoffering service. Formerly with the East and West Association, Mrs. Pahk worked for the military government in the Department of Public Information as a radio lecturer during the American occupation in Korea. She holds degrees from Ewha College in Seoul, Korea, and from Wesleyan College in Georgia, and Columbia University, and is the author of several books.

Traffic Flow Reflects East-West Tension

Hitler Highway Cold War Barometer

By NORMAN LINDHURST

BERLIN (NANA) — Come with me on a ride down nightmare highway, behind the Iron Curtain. Thi is the Helmstedt-Berlin autobahn.

bomb-pocked old Hitler superhighway that is one of the prize pawns of the Cold War. This is the main road through Red Germany from the Western world to Berlin.

It is guarded by surly, unpredictable Russians and arrogant, spiteful East German "People's Police." It is 120 miles long. There is nobody to help you if you have a breakdown. A flat tire can bring arrest. Getting lost can land you in a Soviet jail for weeks, even months.

You have read much about this highway. It has become a kind of Cold War barometer. When the Cold War thaws a bit, the traffic flows relatively smoothly. But when thunder rolls out of the Kremlin, the screws are turned on the autobahn until traffic is brought to a crawl.

ON BOTH SIDES of the autobahn near the Allied checkpoint a whole little community has grown up based on the Cold War—restaurants, sleazy hotels, money-exchange booths, filling stations, a garage, a wrecker service, warehouses and sheds, and even a cabaret.

At first it seems that the Russians may have reimposed the blockade. But no, we are told, the line is moving.

East German "People's Police" are clearing Berlin-bound trucks at the rate of one every six minutes, and westbound carriers one every 10 or 12 minutes. Not very fast, but still not bad. When the heat is on, a single truck may take ten hours and up to 70 to clear the Soviet checkpoint.

The truck drivers all know each other. They operate their own intelligence service, with each driver briefing the others on conditions at the checkpoint.

ONE DAY the Russians turn every truck inside out, the next day they only look for specific items, perhaps scrap metal and machine tools. There is a team of tough inspectors on the job. It can take 8hours. Or the inspectors are "soft" and the checking is little more than a formality.

Once past the Soviet checkpoint Berlin lies straight ahead.

Now there are no garages, no tow cars, nothing on the autobahn. If our car breaks down we can only advise a passing motorist and ask him to report to the Allied military police who will then ask for Russian permission to send a wrecker.

We are expected in Berlin within three hours. If we don't arrive the military police will give us an hour and then begin questioning others who passed us on the road.

AFTER THE FIFTH hour a wrecker combs the road and after the eighth hour a Russian-speaking Allied liaison officer goes to Soviet military headquarters at Karlshorst. The assumption—and it is invariably correct—is that we have strayed off the road and been arrested.

If they follow form they will deny they are holding us, but the Allied liaison man will keep on pressing and after a few days the Russians will then recall they are holding us after all, and turn us loose.

Soon we reach the famous Elbe bridge.

The second lap of the drive takes us across the great sandy plain of the Mark of Brandenberg.

Eventually we pass the Potsdam cut-off. Ahead—Babelsberg, the Soviet checkpoint before Berlin. Soviet officers shout orders to the People's Police, who bear a startling resemblance to Hitler's old SS in their black uniforms and jackboots.

There are the same endless lines of waiting trucks as at Helmstedt. A loud speaker shrills "peace . . freedom . . down with the warmongers . . .German unity." There are billboards and banners along the highway and over it.

A hundred yards or so farther on we reach the American checkpoint and the journey's end. The American sergeant glances through our papers and asks in matter-of-fact tones, "Everything go smooth?"

We have traveled nightmare highway, where almost anything can happen. Nothing did, this time.

Crime and No Punishment

In the process of turning things right side up after 20 years of inverted thinking about the Communist conspiracy in the United States, a few belated spy convictions growing out of congressional interest in the Harry Dexter White case would be as right as rain.

Even former President Truman cannot dissent from this, because it was for the purpose of catching spies — according to his explanation — that the White affair was handled so strangely.

One of several questions about the incident which have not been answered is this: If the purpose of letting Harry Dexter White fill an important post, instead of getting rid of him, was to catch more spies, how successful was the scheme? What spies were caught?

Since FBI Director Hoover has revealed that it was harder than ever to keep track of White as the result of letting him move up to a better job, the whole scheme turned into a fiasco.

It is incredible that so many people have lost sight of the crime involved in this drab business of keeping people on the public payroll after the FBI had firm evidence they were systematically undermining the security of the United States.

These men and women were commiting treason, not misdemeanors.

Not one of them has been punished for what he did.

Success Story

One of the reasons no one misses Horatio Alger's success stories is the superiority of the real thing.

The bestowal of the American League's Most Valuable Player award on Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians beats the climax of any rags-to-riches saga that Alger ever fished out of his inexhaustible imagination.

Rosen was not, in the beginning, what sports writers call a gifted athlete. Rather, he was one of the kind whose development takes patience — more patience than most of baseball's managers and coaches possess.

It took a lot of patience to wait for Rosen. It would have taken a lot more if he hadn't possessed the greatest gift of all — determination to succeed. Today, it is he and not the wise guys who can say, "I told you so."

There is a moral in his story. That's why it will be told so often — because the world saves a special brand of admiration for people who get where they want to be the hard way.

Al Rosen is getting the special brand. He deserves it.

He made chumps of all the wise guys who wanted to write him off before he had a chance to show what determination can do.

The Climate of Bermuda

In the United States, where winter is settling in, sunny Bermuda seems more than ever like a fine site for a Big Three conference.

President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel will be blessed next month with warmth and sunshine. Since it is dank and foggy at this time of the year in England and relatively cheerless in France, Churchill and Laniel will be particularly privileged to spend a few days in one of the earth's garden spots.

But aside from the prospect of nice weather, nothing about the forthcoming Bermuda conference is cheerful. When the conferees meet, they will be no closer than they have been before to a solution of their common problem.

No one yet knows how to offset the impact of the Soviet Union's belligerence on their security. Britain, France and the United States can agree that it would be foolhardy not to hang together but they cannot agree on how to stay together.

An Old Refrain

Adlai Stevenson, who had dropped out of sight after his round-the-world-in-90-interviews adventure, now has popped back into the news with a curious speech before the Georgia legislature.

The Eisenhower administration, he told the Georgians, is on the right track in its campaign to unveil subversives and their protectors but is using the wrong methods.

This is an old refrain, and Gov. Stevenson must have had his tongue in cheek.

What it means is that when the opposition obviously has the backing of the people, there is nothing left but to question the opposition's methods.

This is a standard practice of the opposition in the two-party system. Since it now is being employed by the man most likely to be the Democratic candidate for president in 1956, it amounts to a kind of official recognition that Adlai Stevenson, for one, expects the espionage scandals will be hurting his party for a long time to come and therefore the Republicans must be criticized for handling them with gloves off.

U.S. Policy in Japan

By David J. Lawrence

Error May Be in Charging Selves With Mistake

What Vice President Nixon said in Tokyo the other day about the United States having made a "mistake" in disarming Japan—a statement now concurred in by the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles — is an oversimplification of a complex problem.

There are good grounds for the belief that it wasn't a mistake at all but a very desirable step, provided a distinction is made between arming for offense, and warding off an invader by proper defense. Actually the United States never urged disarmament below the point of adequate defense.

This correspondet has just received a letter from a high American officer familiar with what happened in Japan under the Allied occupation. He was especially acquainted with the day - by - day application of Allied policy in disarming Japan. He says:

"RUNNING all the way through the basic policies enjoined upon Gen. MacArthur in his administration of Japan was the requirement, never abrogated or modified, contained in his initial post-surrender directive of November 3, 1945, from the United States government, later specifically adopted as Allied policy by the Far Eastern Commission, that he 'seize, or destroy all arms, ammunition, naval vessels, and implements of war, including aircraft designed for civil use, and stop the production thereof . . . and take necessary steps to destroy the Japanese war potential . . .'

"Apart from the specific requirements laid upon him, it was fundamental to Gen. MacArthur's own guiding policy to encourage the Japanese leaders and people to move toward the achievement of Allied purposes and objectives upon their own initiative and responsibility. This was done for the well - understandable reason that change and reform in Japanese political, economic and social institutions, long harnessed by tradition built upon myths and legends, would find greater durability if not directly chained to the 'stigma' of Allied force and compulsion.

"THUS, WHEN revision of the Japanese Constitution was under study, it was cause for satisfaction when the then Prime Minister Shidehara called upon Gen. MacArthur to advance and discuss the idea (for which he later took full credit in his memoirs 'Fifty Years in the Diplomatic Service') that Japan's war-making power be curbed by specific constitutional prescription. Consequently there is no basis for the implication that America made a mistake or that Gen. MacArthur enforced the constitutional provision upon Japan.

"Quite the contrary, after the adoption of the new constitution, MacArthur repeatedly sought publicly to secure a moderate interpretation for the provision abolishing war, by declaring that it could not and should not be construed as denying the Japanese people the 'inalienable right of self-defense against unprovoked attack,' and he personally directed the organization and training of a four Japanese division defense force, equipped with a full complement of tanks and artillery, when compelled to remove the American divisions from Japan for service in Korea.

"HE MADE CLEAR that this was but the initial increment of a long - range plan for an ultimate strength of ten divisions which he felt might be necessary to curb any Soviet - inspired internal disorders or casual invasion of Japanese territory.

"Apart from all this, MacArthur fully supported Japan's constitutional renunciation of war upon the practical premises that, even geared to its maximum potential, the Japanese economy would never be able to supply and service and replace the implements of modern war, and that a Japan rearmed to fulfill the obligations of military alliance would only invite the suspicions of neighbors still bearing the scars and memories of Japan's latest adventure in conquest and invite also the open hostility of the Communists.

"Even in peace, Japan's survival can only rest upon a sound and healthy industrial economy, as its full agricultural potential will never produce the food essential to sustain life, and its complete lack of indigenous raw resources (Japan has no iron, no copper, no rubber, no manganese, no chrome, no nickel, no tin, no zinc, no cotton, no oil, and no hard coal within its boundaries) renders its industrial plants entirely dependent upon good will and confidence in those areas abroad, particularly in Asia, whence such raw resources must be obtained — a good will and confidence always tempered, indeed threatened, by the realization that Japan's population pressures, rapidly increasing within the narrow confines of the four main islands, might well explode into new aggressions abroad were Japan given the essential military capability to dominate less powerful neighbors.

"A JAPAN ENGAGED in global war between the East and West, whether on the side of victor or vanquished, could not fail, because of its geographical location, to be ravaged and destroyed.

"Gen. MacArthur never seriously considered the Soviet Union as a potential threat to Japan unless and until Japan might become sovietized through infiltration and internal pressures, an eventuality not now foreseeable.

"He reasoned that the seizure of Japan by conquest would give the Soviet but a doubtful victory as, unlike Germany with its vast indigenous supplies, Japan's industrial base would remain operational from day to day only in the event of the uninterrupted flow of raw materials from abroad

"We ourselves demonstrated how it ground to a stop when we cut Japan's industrial offshore lifelines and converted its industrial base from an asset into a liability. The Soviet will not chance assuming such a liability.

"Precisely for this reason the Soviet doubtless failed to take adfantage of the opportunity — its great opportunity — to take over Japan when we moved our occupation troops on to Korea. From that time practically all of our military resources became employed beyond the possibility of disengagement, and the Soviet, as one of the Allied powers, legally co-equal in responsibility and authority with the United States, might have moved its forces in to fill the military vacuum left by our departure.

"WHAT COULD we have done to counter such an eventuality? What would any of our allies have done? Obviously nothing.

"The Soviet had no interest in the assumption of the responsibility attendant upon such a move. The much over - emphasized power of Japan's industrial base was too vulnerable to the retaliation of blockade and the Soviet knew it."

The foregoing doctrine would have been of great value in formulating what should be said now with reference to the alleged "mistake."

It isn't good for the word "mistake" to be impressed upon the peoples of Asia. The United States never at any time favored disarmament of Japan below the point of national safety, and as to armament for offensive war, the United States still opposes that point of view, not only for other nations, but for itself.

It may turn out to have been a mistake to charge ourselves with a "mistake" in relation to our disarmament of Japan.

Billion Dollar Modernization Bonanza

For every dollar that went into new dwellings in 1952, homeowners spent more than 50 cents on modernization and maintenance of existing houses.

Figures compiled by the National Production Authority show that a total of $5,000,000,000 was spent last year for alterations, additions, maintenance and repair combined in the residential field.

This compares with $9,900,000,000 spent for new dwellings in 1952, a ratio of 51 per cent.

In actual fact, these figures understate the full size and economic impact of the modernization and maintenance market in homes in view of the great expansion of "do it yourself" among millions of home owners and, in many cases, among renters as well. No precise figures comparable with other areas of building activity are available here. However, even conservative estimates now credit amateurs doing innumerable jobs around their homes with expenditures of several billion dollars a year for materials and supplies alone, leaving out any valuation for time or effort, or what the job would be worth if done by a professional.

The residential modernization and maintenance market is, of course, just one part of the nation's maintenance and repair bill in construction. Taking the entire field of construction activity, public as well as probate, total maintenance and repair expenditures alone (not counting additions or alterations) added up to $11,400,000,000 in 1952, a record total. This was the equivalent of 26 per cent of the 44 billion dollars spent for all construction last year, and represents an economc factor of marked significance to the basically important field of construction activity and to the manifold suppliers dependent on it.

The 1952 proportion of maintenance and repair outlays to total construction expenditures is rather low by past standards, but it is characteristic of periods of intense new building activity such as has been taking place in the last few years and also occurred in the 'twenties.

The records show that the proportion going to maintenance and repairs tends to go up when new building slows down and the aging process begins to have its effect on existing structures.

The long-term figures also show that expenditures for maintenance and repairs have a far more stable trend than outlays for new building and go down far less in times of economic stringency.

Maintenance and repair on homes represent the biggest single element in aggregate expenditures of this type, amounting to 4 billion dollars for 1952, or 35 per cent of the total.

Nonresidential building was No. 2 on the list, its outlays in this area amounting to $2,700,000,000 last year. The public-utility group, including railroads and oil pipelines, was in third place, with maintenance and repair expenditures of $2,100,000,000.

All others, including farm and highways, spent $2,600,000,000 for this purpose in 1952.

While the "do it yourself" boom has attracted a great amount of attention, it is new only in scope and extent of participation. As a matter of fact, it harks back to the early days of all civilizations, and to the pioneer and log-cabin days in our own country.

Its revival on the scale of the last few years is due to a combination of factors, psychological as well as financial. Prominent among these are the great rise in building costs and the urge many people have to find an outlet outside their jobs and at the same time to use their increased leisure to some practical advantage.

Some of the economic results of "do it yourself" verge on the spectacular, such as: two-thirds of all interior house paint sold and at least half of all wallpaper produced are now being applied by amateurs; purchases of work clothes by the amateur "builder" rivaling the sale volume to labor; and estimated expenditures of nearly 3 billion a year for lumber and building supplies, almost 600 million for paint and wallpaper, more than 100 million for floor and wall tile, and about 80 million for power tools.

Christmas Dilemma

By TRUMAN TWILL

Except for a new hat, which I've needed for three years, there is no article of clothing I need this Christmas.

I have mufflers I never wear, two pairs of usable gloves, an overcoat, plenty of socks and shirts, more pajamas than will be used up in the current decade, an adequate assortment of neckties and scads of unmentionables.

I do not smoke and have no need of the weed. I have no other bad habits worth indulging on a scale appropriate to Christmas. There is no time in my life for fishing, no inclination for hunting, no place for gambling.

There are more books around our house than will be read for years to come. I own two watches and never carry either one of them. I have no hobbies that can be advanced by anything that could be placed under a Christmas tree.

I am the man who doesn't need anything — not the man who has everything but the one who doesn't need anything.

This embarrasses those who happen to know about it. It takes some of the fun out of Christmas for them since they are members of my family and have to live with what has become an annoying situation. They dread, with justification, the necessity of buying Christmas presents for a recipient who murmurs, "You shouldn't have" — and means it.

They get the idea that indifference is ingratitude, which is not the case at all. But it louses up Christmas for them. They have a Christmas dilemma.

A happy thought has come to me at the outset of another Christmas season. Maybe there is a way to avert disappointment this year.

When I was still wide - eyed about Christmas, the hardest thing to bear was certainty — to know in advance what was forthcoming.

That feeling hasn't changed any. It's certainty of what is going to happen that louses up the Christmas situation.

Even if I don't need anything, I could be surprised.

Most of us rarely are surprised and certainly cannot be bowled by such things as neckties, socks and slippers, necessary as these may be in the scheme of life.

But there is scarcely any limit to what could bowl us over in other categories.

A few of these are suggested herewith for what they may be worth to persons confronted with the problem of buying Christmas presents for a man who doesn't need anything.

A large American flag, an illuminated sign, a hamperful of assorted snakes, a due bill for five parking tickets paid for in advance;

A gross of 3-D glasses, a solid gold toothpick, a mechanical toy, a last will and testament awaiting only a signature to make it complete;

A set of identical toupees, a receipt for two dozen $2 bets on two dozen horse races, a private secretary, a portrait of himself in oil suitable for hanging over the fireplace;

A lifetime supply of kindling, a declaration of intent freeing him from all further housecleaning chores, a guaranteed privilege of staying in bed on six Sunday mornings with breakfast to be served thereto on demand:

An extra day off on demand, the certified right backed up by a $100 bond to look at the television show of his own choosing in all cases of dispute and freedom from questioning in all household investigations to determine who left on the attic light for two weeks and who forgot to put out the cat.

Why not make this a jolly Christmas for old codgers who haven't been surprised since their pay was cut in the depression?

What's Wrong With '53?

By MARK DANA

Thanksgiving has just passed, Christmas is still distant, and the year 1953 hasn't nearly terminated, yet all sorts of things bearing a 1954 label are at hand.

Diaries for next year are in the stores; people already are driving 1954 cars around proudly; certain persons can hardly wait to take down 1953 calendars and hang up the ones for the next year being passed around. No doubt some bemused persons inadvertently date letters in 1954, because of their thinking ahead.

This haste in being off with the old and on with the new is unseemly, and there ought to be a law. What is the matter with 1953 that of a surety won't afflict 1954? Why must we, with plenty of 1953 left, get so restless and reckless as to forswear an old friend with us for about 11 months and beckon disloyally to a successor?

One expects any day to be asked to buy a 1957 model television set. Politicos, forgetting they are still in a 1953 mess (and some still groggy from 1953) keep talking about 1954 and 1956 as if a mere change of an integer could change the whole picture, or at least assure a new frame for it.

Buy a 1954 diary, and become itchy to start filling its virginal pages? Install a 1954 calendar on the desk, and squirm until the last leaf of the old one can be wastebasketed? One welcomes next year's improvements prematurely, but must we push clock hands around so eagerly, rush the seasons so vigorously, and ditch today for tomorrow with such vim?

A great many people sort of dread Jan. 1, 1954, and would be joyous to change noon to sunrise. A few puzzle us in trying to make tempus fugit faster.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

What a Man!

For relief from the character studies in the American scene of the past month—or for the past decade—we give you Dr. Albert Schweitzer, recently a Nobel Peace Prize winner.

The name Schweitzer, were a butt for comedians, might have pinned down many a man, but here is a figure who has elevated it to a place high among the truly illustrious names of civilization. Here is, perhaps, a man who comes closest to being the planet's most perfect specimen of a civilized human being.

One of the world's most illustrious musicians, as well as a theologist, a philosopher and a doctor, he put everything aside for medicine and has spent his life healing the sick under the most uncomfortable circumstances.

When you consider Albert Schweiter and then take a look around at other figures so prominent in the world and national scene, you feel as you do when you turn from a great cathedral to inspect a honky tonk.

It is something like switching from the Bible to a burlesque-house program, or interrupting a prayer to get into a flea circus. Dr. Schweitzer had everything it takes to go over big as an artist, a swayer of crowds, a leader by word of mouth or pen or a high-priced specialist, ever visible in the right public places.

He chose as a youth to go into the jungles of Africa as a healer of the neglected disease-strickened. He has never faltered and will die dedicated to the job. His way has been the way of the saints of all great religions.

Sizing him up even casually puts you into a mood to wince at many men who stare at you from the newspapers, newreels and TV programs, and who, in many cases, offer themselves as a pattern for the young.

It is impossible to associate a man of Albert Schweitzer's type with the mood observed on every level of American life. Even with a dream pill you can't picture him among the epithet hurlers, double-talkers, clowns, punks, mountebanks, fast-dollar boys, synthetic celebrities and publicity hunters dotting the scene.

Turn to Albert Schweitzer and then get a load of current characters . . . movie stars grinning at deportation proceedings, legislators visiting racketeers in prison cells, holders of important federal jobs refusing to answer: "While in the Government service were you a Communist agent?"

Americans stealing secrets from their government, top Americans wisecracking and laughing in the matter of a hunt to find the truth about Communist infiltration!

Fancy trying to picture Dr. Schweitzer grinning for the newsreels, worrying about his billing, staging a daily walk for a caravan of newmen and photographers, posing with a gorilla called "Muggs," running high speed to get onto a TV show, pictured with a couple of soubrettes on shipdeck, fencing with a fair question or treating any serious situation as if it were a Groucho Marx program!

Dr. Schweitzer wouldn't cross the street to get his name in lights over the Paramount; he could look in the face an invitation to "be my guest" on a coast-to-coast hookup and tell it to jump in the lake; he could even stick to a job in hand when told that the cameramen were outside the door!

If you weren't home when the letter carriers called this Thanksgiving season for a contribution to help fight muscular dystrophy, the scourge of childhood, you'll feel good sending in something now. One hundred thousand mailmen made an extra call at the homes of the land to raise money in the war on this disease which destroys the muscles of the body.

The recent Yale-Harvard football game brought back to ye ed's memory the days when it was the top football classic of the world, when Chapel Street was jammed the night before and when speculators asked and got $100 a pair of tickets . . . Who remembers the scenes around the Taft, Moe Slepack's Smoke Shop, Mory's Temple Bar when it was in Temple Street and the year when it took a good four or five hours to motor to New Haven from New York along the old Boston Post road.?

Camera Takes Pictures Deep Under Ground

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Army engineers have developed a camera which can take pictures inside a small hole deep in the ground.

Engineers and others can make use of such underground observation—in planning big construction projects, locating leaks inside pipelines and spotting underground ore formations, for example.

Officials said the camera might even be adapted for taking picture of tissues inside the human body.

At present when engineers start planning a big dam, bridge or building they drill in the area and examine the resulting cores, usually three inches in diameter, from as much as 100 feet down.

But much of the core is never recovered. And the part that is lost may be a vital missing link. Also, while cores show formations, they do not tell the direction of these.

Engineers frequenty resort to three foot diameter holes into which a man may descend to make an inspection, but they cost about $200 a foot of depth.

The new camera can be used in a small bore. It fits inside a hollow metal tube about three feet long and less than three inches in diameter. Near the bottom of the tube if a circle of quartz glass, backed by a mirror which reflects the wall of the hole. The camera merely takes pictures of the reflection, and of a compass built into the device.

The camera is operated electrically, snapping a picture each three-fourths of an inch of depth.

The pictures can be shown on a flat screen. Looking at them gives the illusion of looking downward into a hole.

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED

UPPER SANDUSKY — A marriage license was issued in probate court here to E. Perry Webb, Lima, insurance executive, and Laurel Jane Wolfe, Upper Sandusky, insurance secretary.

Women were permitted to enroll for the first time in the Yale University Graduate School in 1892 as candidates for the Ph. D. degree. The Yale School of Medicine first accepted women medical students in 1916 and every class since that time has included at least one distaff member.

The next meeting will be Dec. 8 at the home of Mrs. Hougendobler.

Make Gifts on Your Sewing Machine

Try Stuffed Toy Animals For Toddlers, Clothing For Older Children

If contemplation of Christmas costs leaves you worrying about debtor's prison, it's time to take a tip from the experts at your local sewing center on making your own Christmas gifts inexpensively.

Youngsters on your list will love stuffed animals, made on your sewing machine, of gay scraps of fabric and stuffed with cotton or old stockings.

For very young children, it is safer to make the eyes of yarn rather than buttons. For a thick tail or mane of yarn, cut lengths of yarn about four inches long, pull ends evenly through a large needle, pull through cloth, knot and cut the looped end of yarn. Toenails and eyelashes are done with a long embroidery stitch. Add a gay bow, trimmed with a bell or tiny Christmas ball for a gala touch. (Be sure to remove bell or ball before you leave baby alone with toys.)

TEEN-AGERS LOVE ensemble items, such as a matching hat and bag of glowing corduroy.

Cut the corduroy on a flat surface with the pile side up, except when it is necessary to cut double or on a fold. In this case, the fabric should be folded lengthwise with the pile inside. Make your own pattern from brown paper, and place pattern pieces on fabric in the same direction, so that the pile runs upward. When stitching, use a No. 11 needle, light tension and a rather long stitch — about 12 to the inch.

THE HAT IS MADE in four pieces, using buckram as a stiffener for the sides. To make eyelets for the drawstring, use the buttonholer on your sewing machine. Thread the string through, and tie in a bow. For a pixie touch, sew free-swinging tassels to the ends of the string.

MAKE-IT-YOURSELF is the cry of gift-givers who have the time to give their gifts. With a sewing machine, patience and thread, you can turn out a pair of personalized felt suspenders (left), a matching corduroy hat and drawstring bag (right) and many other gifts.

The bag is constructed around a square cardboard bottom, covered in corduroy to match the hat. A sturdy fabric is recommended for the lining, such as duck or denim. Here, too, the buttonhole attachment on your machine makes the eyelets for the drawstring. Two pairs of plaid shoelaces may be used for gay drawstrings on hat and bag.

FELT SUSPENDERS add importance to any skirt in a little girl's wardrobe. These are wonderfully easy to make, using two strips of felt and two sizes of bright rick-rack. Simply measure child from the waist front over the shoulders and across the back to the waist, and add two inches for buttonhole area.

Use pinking shears to cut two strips of felt one inch wide to this measurement.

Trim with contrasting rick-rack, stitching down from the wide rick-rack first, and the narrow strip on top of that. Leave one inch at either end untrimmed. Use your buttonholer to make four vertical buttonholes.

YOU MAY MARK another pair of suspenders as her very own by stitching a felt crossbar to join the two strips in front. Use the fashion-stitch technique to stitch her name in contrasting thread. Since felt is so heavy, an organdy backing is not necessary.

The fashion-stitch technique may be used, too, for the men on your Christmas list. Place a small monogram just above the left cuff of a shirt, or on the corner of a handkerchief.

Metallic thread, used sparingly, adds Christmas sparkle; but remember to place the metallic thread on the bobbin, and stitch from the wrong side.

NO MENU FOR DUCKS, GEESE

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Migrating ducks and geese aren't a bit finicky about what they eat. Leroy Korschgen, biologist for the Missouri Conservation Commission who studied the diet of 2,252 ducks and 185 Canada geese, has discovered 234 plants and 48 animal foods made up the bulk of their diet. For ducks the favorites are corn, smartweeds, wild millets, acorns and cutgrasses. Geese eat wild millets smartweeds, cut grasses, spikerushes, miscellaneous vegetation, winter wheat and corn, in that order. Korchgen says they do not harm agricultural crops.

Poll of Operators Reveals Spinsters Happy, Healthy

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A pretty interesting commentary on American spinsterhood has surfaced recently, and at the risk of sounding positively subversive, I'd like to point it out subtly.

In a recent copy of a magazine called "Lifetime Living," there was printed unobtrusively the results of a survey made among about 1,300 women telephone operators. The object of the survey was, I gathered, to find out a little something about the health of women workers.

Illness Concentrated

Their main finding didn't strike me as particularly new or startling; about two-thirds of all the illness and poor health in the group was concentrated among about one-third of the telephone operators.

In recent years, we've all been made increasingly aware that there really is such a thing as being accident-prone and that certain people actually seem to attract disaster, germs and physical mishaps because of a certain alchemy which involves bad thinking or unconscious drives toward self-destruction.

It seemed, therefore, quite understandable that the surveyors among the telephone operators found that the group of women with the lion's share of physical distress were the most harassed worried women of the lot: the widows and divorcees with small children to care for.

The startling finding to me was this: the survey people found that the women with the best health were the telephone operators who were single, without family responsibilities, who had no desire to marry and who were content with other jobs and their station in life.

This was a pretty limited survey and perhaps can be attacked as a basis for broad generalities because it was all on one level and represented only one group and one income bracket.

The fact remains, however, that it is the first comforting word flung to the nation's spinsters I've come across in years.

Statistically, it has been shown repeatedly by the census that spinster is inevitable in a country where there are more women than men and where monogamy is a federal law. But the unwed female population — particularly those who fell into the dreaded "career" category by choice or necessity — have been attacked on a lot of fronts as dames who by all the rules should take nervous stock of themselves.

Enjoy Good Health

And now comes along this friendly little poll of telephone operators which finds that women who aren't gnawed by ambition and take pleasure in their work can at least enjoy good health even though unblessed by spouse or child.

Of course, the little survey really one should be single. It just goes doesn't prove that to be healthy to show that women who are financially responsible for the support and upbringing of small children have more worries and pressures than women responsible to themselves alone.

The piece I read made no mention of the health of happily married women with children.

Store 'Extras' Taught Proper Sales Methods

44 Students, 13 Adults Take Course Offered at Harding

Extra help hired by Marion stores for the Christmas rush should prove efficient this year. Under the guidance of Mrs. Colleen Burns at Harding High School, 44 students of the school and 13 adults have recently completed a 12 hour course in the fundamentals of sales work.

The 57 students were awarded certificates stating they had successfully completed the course.

The Pre-Employment Sales Course' was especially designed to train personnel for the Christmas shopping season. The high school students met for 10 classes which lasted one and one-half hours. Adults met twice a week for three weeks for two-hour sessions.

Subjects Studied

During the course of study, the students were taught the requirements for employment, store rules and regulations, how to apply for a job, stock keeping, and how to make sales.

They were also told how to deal with different types of customers as well as write out sales checks, use a cash register, and wrap packages.

Before any were given the certificate, they had to undergo a special exam which tested their skills in the matters covered in the course. These were not written exams, but practical tests to see if the person taking the course had mastred what was taught.

Within a week after completing the lessons, 19 of the high school students had found jobs in different stores in the city. Mrs. Burns expressed the hope that all who took the course would be able to find jobs for the Christmas holidays.

Get Extra Time

Students at Harding who completed the course and were hired will be given an extra three days on their Christmas vacation. They will be dismissed Dec. 15 instead of Dec. 18 in order to make use of the facts they learned.

Besides the regular lectures and demonstrations in class, movies were also shown each session. These pointed out in visual manner what the prospective store clerk would need to know.

Every student had to attend each class in order to be eligible to receive the certificate of acceptability. Among the high school students, about 55 started the course, of whom 44 were given certificates.

Department stores and variety stores are the greatest source of jobs for the persons who took the course. However, Mrs. Burns added, all type of stores were inquiring about getting extra help this season.

"HAT TRICK" ERROR CHANGED

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Because of a scorekeeping error, rookie Parker MacDonald of the Pittsburgh Hornets in the American Hockey League was deprived of a well-earned "hat trick." The three goals he tallied against the Syracuse Warriors were erroneously given to teammate Johnny McClellan. The error, however, was rectified the next day and MacDonald had his first professional 'hat trick' recorded.

THE HARD WAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Try this on a cake sometime. Mrs. Martin Reeder said she and a friend were cooking a cake when they discovered they had left out the sugar. Although the cake was partly cooked, the friend took it out, dumped it into a bowl, added the sugar and put the cake back in the oven. Mrs. Reeder said it was the best cake she ever ate.

'Idiot Brain' To Solve Equations for Student

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—A 25-year-old graduate student at Cornell University has built what he calls "an idiot brain" — an electronic computer that can solve only one type of problem.

The device was built by Frank Rosenblatt of New Rochelle, N.Y., to assist him on research for his Ph.D. thesis.

Rosenblatt said he plans to give psychological tests to 200 persons and may have to solve 20,000 equations to get the data he wants.

The machine can do nothing but work out those equations. But it can do the work in two seconds—whereas it would take 15 minutes with a desk computer.

A special telephone apparatus linking 20 inquiry clerks in British railway stations makes it possible to give instant replies to all questions about train services eliminating all queues.

'Con' Man Uses His Art To Get Out of Prison

NEW YORK (AP) — A suspected confidence man "conned" himself right out of jail yesterday.

James Briggs, 39, arrested last Oct. 15 as a fugitive from grand larceny charges in Newark, N. J., and Detroit, was missed yesterday at city prison. Authorities said this is what happened:

The prison keeper received $500 bail for Herbert Brown, 19, Briggs' cellmate. At 3 a.m. the keeper called out to Brown to get ready to leave.

A few minutes later a voice replied, "Ready." Shortly after a prisoner walked off. It was Briggs.

Officials said they are investigating to determine whether Brown—held on an unlawful entry charge—was asleep at the time or if he let Briggs leave in his place.

Village Streets Lighted For First Time in Years

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The 15 families in Fifficktown, a community in Croyle township near here, have lighted streets for the first time since 1932. They were turned off then as an economy move.

The property owners finally convinced the commissioners that they could afford to pay for 18 lamps—and the lights were in operation last night.

Pony, Little League Stars Praised, Urged by Feller To Take Action Seriously

Marion's Little Leaguers and players in the Pony League along with about 400 other interested persons met Bob Feller, Cleveland Indian mound ace, last night at Harding High School.

The Indian hurler was the principal speaker at the first annual awards night program of the Baseball for Boys Commission. He handed out awards to members of the two Little League winners, Wilhelm's in the National League and National City Bank in the American League, and to the Pony League champs, VFW.

Lauds Players

In a brief address, Feller praised the boys for their interest in the program and members of the commission, parents and all organizations sponsoring the games.

He urged the youthful players to 'give your best' at all times and warned them they had a responsibility to follow the instructions of their coaches, managers and parents.

Parents and adults, he said, have obligations other than signing a check to help finance the program. Their main duty, he said, is turning out for the games and giving the players something to play for.

The former fireball king then turned to the Cleveland Indians. "We have some pretty good ball players but we are weak in some spots," he said.

Pitching Fails

Reviewing the 1953 season, Feller labeled lack of bullpen strength as the No. 1 cause of the Tribe's failure. The pitching wasn't what it had been expected to be and erratic spurts caused the downfall. Failure of Larry Doby at the plate was another big factor in the failure as was the foot injury suffered by Luke Easter on the fourth day of the season.

Going over the team by position, Feller listed right field as the top question mark. "We'll have quantity but the quality may be questionable," he told his audience. Left field is set with Dale Mitchell while Doby will be back in center, he added.

First base was another questionable post in the opinion of Feller. Newly acquired Rocky Nelson seems the No. 1 bet. Feller described him as a proven ballplayer and pointed out he currently is the No. 1 hitter in the Caribbean Federation.

The second base combination of George Strickland and Bobby Avila was tabbed as one of the best in the league by Feller, who has won more games than any active major league hurler.

Deserved Award

Al Rosen, voted only yesterday as the most valuable player in the league, deserved the honor, the pitcher said. "Rosen hustles all the time and is always trying to improve himself," he said. He described Rosen as not being a natural ballplayer but one who has worked overtime to overcome his faults.

Feller ended his talk by complimenting Marion on its new Harding High School. "It's a beautiful school and a credit to the community," he said.

John Luginbuhl, president of the Baseball for Boys Commission, was master of ceremonies. Rev. J. Paul Goebel, pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed Church, gave the invocation.

Program Reviewed

Robert Scott, president of Little League Commission when it was first formed here, was introduced and gave a brief outline of the struggle to get the program started in Marion and Arch Brumage, immediate past president of the group, gave a history of the movement and outlined plans for the immediate future. Those plans, he said, include the construction of two additional fields just north of the present Lincoln Park diamond. Plans call for one of the fields to be lighted for night games while the other probably will be used for twilight action.

Feller then showed a movie filmed by the Indians showing the training steps taken for young players in the Indian farm system and the major league players.

Ben Lenavitt, a member of the congregation of Temple Israel, gave the benediction.

Walter Dukes To Appear Here On Harlem Globetrotter Card

Most of the familiar names who have made the Harlem Globetrotters basketball's finest entertainment unit and one outstanding newcomer will be in action when the team appears at the Veterans Memorial Coliseum Friday, Dec. 18.

Heading the Globetrotters' cast, of course, is the clown prince of basketball, Reece "Goose" Tatum. The zany comedian who sparks the Trotters' mirth provoking stunts had to forego the annual series against the college All-Americans last spring as well as the team's junket to Europe because of a back injury. However, he is now fit and amusing audiences again.

Veterans Ermer Robinson, Josh Grider, Clarence Wilson and Sam Wheeler, plus sophomores, J. C. Gipson, Lee Garner and newcomer, Walter Dukes, complete the Globetrotter roster.

Dukes, of course, is no stranger to United States basketball fans. The seven-foot star from Seton Hall University was the nation's leading performer last winter as he sparked his team to the National Invitational championship at Madison Square Garden in New York.

The program here will find the Globetrotters meeting the Philadelphia Sphas in the feature attraction of the two-game show which finds the Washington Generals opposing the Toledo Mercurys in the first contest, starting at 8 p.m. Tickets for the show are now on sale at Henney & Cooper, 136 W. Center Street and at the National City Bank in Marion. Mail orders may be sent to Box 502, Marion. Tickets are priced at $2.50, $1.90 and $1.30.

Bowling

Jack Kirby hit 212 and Royal Bosh totaled 553 to pace bowlers in the Marion Recreation League Friday. Team honors there were posted by C & O No. 1, with an 843 game, and Marion Recreation, with a 2351 series. A 225 by Webb Anderson and 587 by Steve Kuhner showed the way in the Independent League at Palace Recreation where six 200 games were recorded. Carl's Auto Parts hit 955-2707 for team laurels. Duke Gilmore's 213 and Charles Gruber's 596 were tops in the City League. Harruff Tires posted 900 while it was tied by Parish Marathon with 2420 for the high series. Commercial League keglers were led by M. Lewis' 233 and J. Lusch's 565. Nine 200 games were rolled there. Dairy Queen with 971-2687 led the teams.

Cleveland Barons Call 2 Marion Stars

Prince, Vejprava Watched; To Return for Sunday Tilt

The winning spurt of the Marion Barons during the past two weeks, which has enabled them to climb from the International League cellar to the second spot in the loop, has apparently been attracting a lot of attention from the parent club in Cleveland.

Two mainstays in the Barons' attack were tabbed for possible duty with the parent team during the past 24 hours. Jerry Prince and Gordie Vejprava were in Cleveland today for a look by Bun Cook and his assistants. The two, along with Cleland Mortson from the Barrie, Ont., farm, will probably be placed in action tonight when the Barons meet Syracuse at the Cleveland Arena.

Pete Hendy, public relations director for the local hockey club, said, however, both Prince and Vejprava will be back in Marion uniform for the game tomorrow at the Coliseum against Fort Wayne.

Prince and Vejprava have been big guns in the Marion attack all season. Prince has shaken off the effects of a bad back which slowed him in the early stages of the season and has been the terror of the IHL ice during the past two weeks. In his last six games, he has shoved six goals into the nets. His splurge was climaxed here Wednesday night when he turned the hat trick against Grand Rapids.

Vejprava, a 5-7 speed merchant, has notched two hat tricks thus far during the season. He was with the Cleveland club for a short time last season before being sent to New Haven in the Eastern League.

Prince also played with the Barons for a short stint last year but Cleveland officials decided he needed more minor league campaigning.

None of the three players called by the Barons will be retained. They probably will be returned to their respective clubs for more seasoning. Since the league here is of amateur classification Prince and Vejprava were called up for a three-game trial basis. Should they play more than three games with the Barons, the club would have to classify them as professionals.

Cook indicated he planned to use Vejprava and Prince in the same line tonight. He will be forced to bench part of his regular team as he gets a look at the newcomers. The Cleveland club currently is trailing Syracuse by six points in the American Hockey League race.

Cleveland fans had been expecting several changes in the lineup and the announcement of the calling of the three minor league stars by Jim Hendy, general manager, may signal the calling of several Cleveland farm players.

Galion Cage Crew To Play in Clinic

GALION — Coach Jack Shuck will present his Galion High School in the fifth annual basketball clinic.

The Tigers will go through two eight-minute scrimmage sessions with the Sulphur Springs team, defending Crawford County champions. Second teams of both schools also will clash.

There will be a discussion of rules, introduction of varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders and the high school pep band, directed by Marvin Fogt, will play.

Besides the introduction of the Tiger players, the junior varsity team will be presented by its coach Dick Kerin, and the freshman team by Coach Pete Fanning.

Four officials to participate will be John Irvin, George Joachim, Don Keefer and Bruce Morehead. Irvin will lead the rules discussion and demonstrations.

The public is invited. No admission charge will be made. The program begins at 7 p.m.

Tom Thatcher is coach of the Sulphur Springs team.

Welterweight Punchers Matched in TV Feature

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Johnny Cunningham and Carmen Basilio, two welterweight upset artists, match punches tonight in a 10-round nationally televised bout.

The scrap in Civic Auditorium will be carried over the ABC network, beginning at 9 p. m. with the Toledo area blacked out.

Judging here is on a point basis, with 10 for a round.

Brownies Seek Title Clincher Against Cards

NEW YORK (AP)—The rampaging Cleveland Browns, with a victory streak of nine games, can wrap up their fourth straight National Football League divisional championship tomorrow.

And the man who thinks they can't lick the Chicago Cardinals would be the object of quizzical looks, indeed, if he spoke out. The hapless Cards have exactly one tie to show for their season's work, along with eight losses.

Otto Graham and Co. have licked the Cards seven times in a row, and this is no time to stop.

A victory would also provide a good chance for tackle Lou Groza to crack his own field goal kicking record.

Only the Chicago Bears of 1940 through 1943 have won four division titles in a row. Groza, successful on 17 of 20 boots, is just two three-pointers short of the record he set last year.

And winning also would move the Brownies one notch closer to the first undefeated season in the NFL since the Bears did it in 1942. The Browns only year without a loss so far was in 1948, while they were still in the old All-America Conference.

Cleveland is favored over the Cards by three touchdowns and just about the only person giving much thought to a Chicago victory is Paul Brown, Cleveland's ever-worrying coach.

The Philadelphia Eagles, with a winning streak of six games, are in the unfortunate position of being the second best team in the Eastern Conference behind the Browns. They play the New York Giants, a good defensive outfit. But the Eagles have perhaps the most crushing defense in the league and most observers think they'll win much as they please.

Another Eastern Division game pits the Washington Redskins against the Pittsburgh Steelers. The Steelers' failure to compile a better than 4-5 record has been one of the mysteries of the loop. They still are strong on paper, but with Jim Finks injured, they'll be badly handicapped.

The Detroit Lions' 34-15 victory over Green Bay Thanksgiving Day all but cemented the Western Division title for them. The Los Angeles Rams and the San Francisco 49ers still are in the running, but time is running out on them.

The Rams lay the Chicago Bears in Chicago while the 49ers tackle the Baltimore Colts. Both the Rams and the 49ers will be heavily favored.

Mize Released, Shops For Managerial Spot

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time since he started his major league career almost two decades ago, Johnny Mize, one of the greatest sluggers in baseball, was job-hunting today.

The 40-year-old first baseman of the New York Yankees decided yesterday he had come to the end of the road as a player and asked the Yanks to make him a free agent so he could seek a manager's job at the minor league meetings starting in Atlanta Monday.

Although Mize, who hit 359 home runs since breaking in with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1936, said he would quit after the Yanks won their fifth straight world championship last month, his action came somewhat as a surprise. After the 1952 World Series he also said he intended to quit playing.

Morral Squeezes By Harpster 44-41

Morral squeezed to a 44-41 win last night over Harpster on the losers' floor. The Marion County team jumped into a first quarter lead and were never headed although their lead was never a large one.

Clair Hensel collected 14 points to lead the attack while John Craycraft hit for 11. Connie Walcutt was high for Harpster with 21 and Swihart added 14. Jim Shifflet returned to the Morral team for a brief stint after recovering from a recent operation.

The Morral reserves won 52-32 in the preliminary. Bob Williams and Mannie Saxton each had 17. Hawk was high for the losers with 11.

BUCKEYE BEST—Bob Browson, who steered Portsmouth High back from its worst season to the number two spot in state is the 1953 Ohio high school "Coach of the Year" in the annual International News Service poll of coaches, sports writers and sportscasters. Brownson's squad hung up a nine game unbeaten, untied streak.

Tebbetts Looks Ahead, Ignores Reds' Failures

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Mel Parnell of the Boston Red Sox, two of major league baseball's 20-game winners last season, moved well up among the lifetime pitching leaders as a result of their fine performances.

Erskine, who finished with a 20-6 record for the Dodgers, shows an overall slate of 71 victories and 34 setbacks (.676) for his six years in the National League. He ranks second to the Giants' Sal Maglie's .699 (72-31), figures compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

Parnell now is second in the American League to the Yankees' Vic Raschi. Mel, with 21 and 8 during the last campaign, has 111 wins and 59 defeats for .653 while Raschi (13-6) last year) shows a gaudy .706, with 120 triumphs and only 50 losses.

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, who racked up 23 wins, is third in the National League with 114-73 (.710).

In the American League, Mike Garcia of Cleveland ranks behind Raschi and Parnell with an 85-49 lifetime mark for .635. Next comes Bobby Feller with 249 victories (the most in either league) and 151 defeats (.63) and Bob Lemon, also of the Indians, with 140-85 for .622.

Army, Navy Meet

College Footballers Close Doors on Campaign Today

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time this season, a couple of so-so Eastern teams will hog the spotlight today as the college football season breathes its last.

Army and Navy take the center of the stage for their annual game in Philadelphia and a capacity crowd of 102,000 is expected to crowd into Municipal Stadium. This will be the National Collegiate Athletic Association's televised game of the week and untold millions will watch it on their screens.

Notre Dame, which lost its top spot in the country last week when it played a 14-14 tie with Iowa, will try to regain some of its prestige at the expense of Southern California. A crowd of more than 90,000 is expected at Los Angeles to watch this one.

At least one bowl nominee may be known at the end of the day's hostilities. Rice and Baylor have a Southwest Conference date at Houston and the game is replete with intriguing possibilities.

Texas, which has finished its season, can do no worse than tie for the title. But the Longhorns no doubt will spend the day rooting for Baylor. If the Bruins win, they'll be tied with Texas for the title, but they droped a 21-20 decision to the Longhorns. That probably would give the Cotton Bowl spot to Texas.

If Rice wins, however, the Owls should get the bid because they whipped Texas 18-13 a month ago.

Army has been installed a slight favorite in this its 54th battle with Navy. But that was to be expected no matter which team was the choice because in 6 previous meetings the game has been decided by a touchdown or less.

Army has won six lost one and tied one, while Navy has won four, lost two and tied two.

As for Notre Dame, the Irish will be playing with their coach, Frank Leahy resting at his Long Beach, Ind., home. His physician, Dr. Nicholas G. Johns, said Leahy "simply has not recovered" from the severe stomach cramps he suffered during the Georgia Tech game a month ago.

Leahy's assistants, Joe McAardle and Bill Earley, will direct the team in his absence. The Irish have been installed as two-touchdown favorites over the Trojans. The Southwestern Conference title—and a probable trip to one of the bowls—will be decided in two games in Dixie. Mississipi can win if it beats Mississippi State. But if underdog State wins, the conference victor will be decided by the result of the Alabama - Auburn game at Birmingham. Both schools are reported under consideration for both the Cotton Bowl, and Gator Bowl.

Georgia Tech, which will play in the Sugar Bowl, concludes its regular season operation against Georgia.

At Norman, Okla., Oklahoma takes on the Oklahoma Aggies in its final tuneup before its Orange Bowl date with Maryland. The Sooners are two-touchdown favorites.

Hardin - Simmons plays Texas Tech, North Carolina visits Duke, Tennessee entertains Vanderbilt, Tulane tangles with Louisiana State, Florida goes against Miami and North Carolina State clashes with Florida State in Southern games. Boston University journeys to William and Mary in an intersectional contest.

In the Southwest, it's Southern Methodist-Texas Christian, Tulsa-Arkansas, Arizona - Arizona State and Colorado-Colorado A and M.

Fordham and Villanova play for the first time since 1921 and Holy Cross and Boston College meet in Eastern games.

Claridon Wins 4th Basketball Verdict

Claridon's cagers notched their fourth straight victory of the young season last night on the home floor with a 47-37 triumph over Olentangy. The defending county tournament champs sealed the win after snapping a 36-36 deadlock in the final two minutes of play.

Gene Jessie with 20 points sparked the Claridon attack which netted the winners quarter leads of 12-11, 23-20 and 35-30. Bob Johnson and Bud Price each added nine to the Claridon cause.

In the preliminary tilt, Claridon's futures posted a 35-22 win as Gale Castle hit for 20 markers. Claridon hosts Caledonia Friday and on Saturday travels to Marengo.

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — More than 400 trotters and pacers will be up for auction at the Fairgrounds Coliseum here Monday through Wednesday in one of the largest horse sales in Ohio history.

The standardbreds will include Victory's First and Abasong, trotters and Maestro Pick, two-year-old pacer, all from Castleton Farm, Lexington, Ky.

On Road

Harding's Cagers Prepare For 2 Games Next Week

Harding is preparing for two road games next week which will get the Prexies' basketball season rolling in full gear after the short Thanksgiving vacation.

Jim Lawler takes his Harding crew to Galion for the President's second game of the young season Tuesday. The locals are at Willard Friday.

Coach Lawler's debut as Harding coach last Wednesday night was a 61-47 Thanksgiving eve victory over Bexley. The win marked the dedication of the new Harding gymnasium.

Lawler's starting lineup of Dave Schnelker, 6-2, at center, Max Kaelber, 6-0, and Donnie Smith, 5-7, at the forwards, and Ron Conroy, 5-8½, and Marvin McFann, 6-0, at the guards is doubtful for the Galion contest. That five started against Bexley but Doug Bibler, Phil Carroll and other Harding cagers showed up well.

Carroll came in late in the third period to help Harding along to victory with 13 points. Bibler, slowed down by a football shoulder injury, bit for eight points. Conroy led the scoring against Bexley by dropping in 14 markers. Next came Smith with six, Bob Hamor with six, Kaelber with five and Gene Armstrong and Schnelker with four each.

Coach Lawler employed a man-to man defense and during the second half a pressing defense helped Harding build up its margin of victory.

Harding's next home game will be Tuesday, Dec. 8, with Columbus Aquinas. The locals will journey to Columbus for a game with West's Cowboys on Friday, Dec. 11, before coming back here the following Friday to open their Buckeye League campaign with Bowling Green.

Top Teams Play in Y Tourney In Three-Game Slate Tonight

The YMCA Invitational Basketball Tournament goes into the third session of play tonight on the south gym when four of the tournament's leading teams put in an appearance for the first time. Myers Pumps of Ashland, a team made up of former college stars, meet the Bucyrus VFW at 7 p.m. and the Pythian Drugs of Columbus tangle with the Ashley All-Stars at 8. Green Camp Elevator leading independent team from Marion County, meets the UAW-CIO crew at 9. Both Meyers and the Pythian have, in recent years, been leading contenders for state AAU honors and various other tournaments held throughout the state.

Last night, the VFW team from Bucyrus, racked up a 73-26 victory over the Waldo Merchants. J. Striker pitched in 22 points to lead the Bucyrus attack. The Waldo Merchants were in the game for the first quarter only when they managed to stay with the VFW until two minutes remained. Three quick buckets gave the VFW a 20-12 lead which they widened to their 73-46 verdict.

In other games, Raymond of Marysville walloped McMillen Feed Mills 62-63 in the opener as every man in the Raymond uniform got into the scoring act. B. McCallister lead the Raymond crew with 14 points while Fensel followed McCallister with a total of 12 points.

In the final game, the Marion A. C. dropped the Farm Bureau of Columbus 48-42. Don West dropped in 11 points and Bob Hall added 10 to pace the local crew. Dick Barnett was the sharp shooter of the game for the losing Columbus five when he connected for nine field goals and three charity tosses for a total of 21 points.

Alumni Squad Nips Upper High School

UPPER SANDUSKY — Upper Sandusky's varsity cagers went down to a 48-43 defeat here last night at the hands of a hand-picked alumni squad.

The alumni jumped to a 12-8 lead in the first period and led 22-21 at the half. They spurted to a 39-35 lead in the third quarter before sewing up the verdict in the final.

Dave McClain dumped in 11 points, seven from the foul line, to lead the high school team. Dick Stansbery collected 19 for the alumni while Messmer added 12 and Wolfe hit for 10. The high school squad will open regular season play Tuesday night when Ada comes here.

UPPER SANDUSKY

Warfel 3, 1, 7; Shaffer 0, 0, 0; Riley 2, 3, 7; K. McClain 0, 0, 0; Brown, 1, 4, 6; Miller 3, 2, 8; Keunzli 2, 0, 4; Newell 0, 0, 0; D. McClain 2, 7, 11.

Green Bay Packers Fire Gene Ronzani

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Head Coach Gene Ronzani of the Green Bay Packers was dismissed yesterday in an effort to repair the professional football fortunes in this onetime citadel of the sport.

The Packer executive board permitted his immediate resignation and reportedly paid him the $7,500 provided for in a dismissal clause in the three-year contract he signed last January.

In two games short of four seasons Ronzani's teams won only 14 of 46 National Football League contests, the poorest showing in the 35-year history of the club.

The Packer executive board will "take its time" in selecting a new coach. For the last two games the team will be handled by Asst. Coaches Hugh Devore, Ray McLean and Chuck Drulis.

Fights Last Night

NEW YORK — Davey Gallardo, 129½, Los Angeles, outpointed Lulu Perez, 16, Brooklyn, 10.

PARIS — Percy Bassett, 129½, Philadelphia, outpointed Louis Carrara, 134, France, 10.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

Great officials of our government are apparently too busy to attend to small matters like watching for spies in their offices.

SOKOLSKY

This was brought out in testimony before the Jenner Committee.

I take the evidence brought before the committee on November 18, the principal witness, John W. Snyder, former secretary of the treasury, not being present. It is interesting to note that no secretary of the treasury has appeared before the commitee. Two are alive, Henry Morgenthau Jr., and John W. Snyder. Both should be available for testimony.

JOHN SNYDER telegraphed the committee:

"In connection with your present hearings, however, I want you to point out that the record clearly shows that within approximately eighteen months after I became head of the Treasury Department and its 116,000 employes, to the best of my knowledge all suspected subversives were separated from the department and none have been found, so I am advised, in the department since I left . . ."

Apparently Mr. Snyder did not know the facts. Nobody told him.

Actually, Mr. Snyder appointed Harold Glasser Director of Monetary Research on August 22, 1946. There was plenty of data about Glasser before that date. In fact, the FBI had sent "two summaries on Soviet espionage activities . . . to the Treasury Department" from November 8, 1945, until July 24, 1946. So, J. Edgar Hoover testified.

-:-

THESE REPORTS must have been in the files of the Treasury Department. Did nobody check for Mr. Snyder

On December 23, 1947, Harold Glasser resigned. That is two years after the first FBI report reached the Treasury. During those two years, Harold Glasser attended the UNRA Conference in Geneva, Switzerland.

It may be recalled that although the United States put up about 90 per cent of the costs of UNRRA, American labels were removed from the goods we sent to help war-tortured people, so that they never did know that it was the United States that was aiding them.

In January, 1947, Glasser went to Trieste as a member of the American delegation to the Four Power Study of the Economy of Trieste. In March and April, 1947, Glasser attended the Moscow meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers as adviser to Gen. George C. Marshall.

SO, GLASSER resigned and Snyder wrote a letter of regret. This is two years after the FBI had called attention to Glasser. Furthermore, Snyder wrote to H. L. Lurie, executive director, Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds, recommending Glasser for a job:

"Glasser's technical ability and analytical capacity are of a very high order. He is a well-trained economist, and during many years of intensive work in the field of general economic policy he has acquired an unusual ability to apply a highly developed analytical technique to the solution of economic problems.

"He has held very responsible positions in the Treasury, as you know, and has also been assigned to important overseas missions. We have relied heavily on his judgment, his estimate of situations, and his recommendations, and I regret that his decision to leave the government service is depriving us of him."

LURIE GETS nervous about Glasser because Elizabeth Bentley had testified that he was one of her agents in her espionage ring. So Lurie writes Snyder that he is disturbed:

"I understand also that Mr. Glasser was thoroughly investigated as a security risk while he was serving in the U.S. Treasury."

Snyder ignores the two FBI reports on Glasser and replies:

"No information regarding Mr. Glasser has been called to our attention that had not previously been considered by the Department prior to my letter to you of December 26, 1947, and all I can do at this time is reaffirm the appraisal I made of him in my earlier letter."

SNYDER SAYS nothing about the FBI reports. He permits this organization to believe that Elizbeth Bentley's testimony is unconfirmed and has been irnogred by the Treasury. He does not refer the Jewish organization to the FBI. In fact, Snyder's letter is confirmed by one written by confirmed and has been ignored zation on Dec. 23, 1947.

The question must arise why two cabinet officers, the secretary of the treasury and the secretary of state, ignored two FBI reports about Harold Glasser and encouraged a public organization to employ him when the proper agency of government named him as a security risk with some evidence of espionage.

Memo for Madden

By Victor Riesel

The past is prelude.

So today I offer to those with an open mind and some anguish over the future, the story of one Edwin Smith and the heartbreak of those of us who fought him when we believed he was fronting for the Soviets in very strategic government circles.

RIESEL

Smith was one of those who held high office. He was one of the three members of the National Labor Relations Board. As such, Smith helped make policy through which the Board could direct the course of all American labor. That was in the 30s.

-:-

WE WERE then a small group fighting a mammoth disbelief everywhere that Communists were organized to infiltrate the government and shoulder it in pro-Soviet directions.

s

We suspected that Smith was a frequent, surreptitious visitor to the Soviet Embassy. We knew that he was meeting with a hard core group of Communists in a Washington suburb.

We knew that he was loading the Labor Board with Communists —from vital examiners down to stenographers.

We knew that after our own handful of anti-Communist friends at the Board protested this, the Communist office help was put on the payroll when our friends went out of town on government business.

One anti - Communist left his office for a few weeks and returned to find the economic division of the Board in the hands of a girl Communist who reported vital details back to the Red caucus.

When our friend insisted that she be fired, he was called in by Smith who bellowed at him and threatened him. But at last the girl was fired.

BECAUSE WE HELD an island or two we were able to watch the operations — not only of Smith, but also of Harry Dexter White, Gregory Silvermaster and all the rest who infiltrated in the 30s. Finally one of our friends (still in the government service, so I won't name him lest he again be forced to undergo the persecution he suffered then) went to the chairman of the Labor Board, one J. Warren Madden.

Our friend warned Madden that Communists controlled the board's machinery. They would, and of course were, forcing more and more of our sensitive industries into the hands of labor champions of the Soviet Union — WHO STILL CONTROL MOST OF THOSE UNIONS TODAY.

Chairman Madden told our friend he was one of those who needn't look under the bed for Communists, he knew they were there. Big joke.

-:-

WE KNOCKED on doors. We drew up reports. We tried to get Smith removed. Result: Smith of the Labor Board was fired. But it was the wrong Smith. You see, there were two Smiths on the board then — the right one and the left one.

Another big joke. Only we didn't laugh. For one day our anti-Communist friend in the Labor Board office was called in by Chairman Madden, who was furious.

He lashed at our friend, saying "See what you've done, you've got all Washington saying we're loaded with Communists, you and your redbaiters."

Well, we lost that one. The secretary of the Board was one Nat Witt, now national counsel to the pro-Soviet Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union — which controls the digging and seing of every ovital defense metal from copper and nickel to uranium.

MADDEN WROTE Witt a letter asking Witt to send him a memo on the "gossip' and widespread attacks on the board.

We can imagine what Witt replied. He stayed on the Board for quite a while. Years later when asked by a congressional committee whether he knew prior to 1940 (or just about the time he was on the labor board) that "Mr Alger Hiss was furnishing information to Jr. J. Whittacker Chambers," Witt declined to answer, stomping, instead, on the Fifth Amendment.

There were many others who wrote letters in behalf of Witt, who also at one time was assistant general counsel and head of the case review section of the Board. All of the letter writers told the chairman what a fine fellow this Witt was.

s

So they worked it back and forth, did Smith and Witt. We lost. Madden went on to become a respected Judge of the Court of Claims, where he is now. But we hope he isn't too busy to read some of the testimony before the congressional committees — especially that of Edwin Smith.

-:-

JUSTICE MADDEN would now discover that our friends had not needled him for naught. For Justice Madden would read that Edwin Smith, infiltrator par excellence, friend and protector of Nat Witt, has admitted to having registered as a foreign agent in the U.S. for Moscow, Czechoslovakia, Peking (home of our military enemy), Bucharest (official home of the Comintern propaganda bureau), Hungary and the East Foto "setup" in Poland. Not to mention the China Photo Service, which distributes enemy propaganda.

If the good people like Justice Madden will just give us a chance and an open mind, we'll save them from the future as well as the past.

Youthful Elders

By Laura Hobson

A man who'll be 87 in March stepped on a raised platform in a radio studio last Sunday afternoon and proceeded to set music-lovers on their ears all over the country.

HOBSON

He was Arturo Toscanini, conducting the first of his NBC concerts this season, an activity he began as a brand - new phase of his career when he was seventy.

Listening, I got thinking about other famous old people and then about folks we all know who "feel" old at 40 or 50 or 60.

WORLD - FAMOUS Grandma Moses was in her seventies when she first set brush to canvas; now she's 93 and still painting steadily.

In public life and politics, there's Herbert Hoover who'll be 80 next year, Bernard M. Baruch who's four years older, and John Nance Garner who went hunting this week to celebrate being 85.

Across the sea, 79-year-old Winston Churchill not only is still prime minister of England, but an indefatigable author as well. In 1948, at a mere 74, he began his six huge volumes of war memoirs, all written with that noble sweep of prose which won him the 1953 Nobel Prize for literature.

-:-

ANOTHER Nobel Prize winner, Bernard Shaw, who died at 94, was nearly 70 when he wrote "Saint Joan," generally regarded as his masterpiece, and nearly 80 when he did "The Millionairess," a London and Broadway smash last season.

America's Oliver Wendell Holmes didn't retire from the Supreme Court until he was 91, and his colleague on the bench, Louis Dembitz Brandeis, didn't until he was 83.

Thomas A. Edison was still inventing when he died at 84, with his dream houses and dream skyscrapers.

As these great old people paraded through my mind, some mellow, some pugnacious, but all of them active and creative to the end, I couldn't help remembering how often we hear our friends and relatives mouth that dreary phrase, "I'm too old."

THE WIDOW in her fifties says it when she's urged to travel or get active in local politics and social work.

The factory or office worker, laid off at 65, or the businessman who retires then, too often putter away their days, becoming emptier and deader to themselves and more cantankerous and crotchety to everybody else

Let's face it, most of us Americans are youth-mad, and maybe that wasn't so crazy in the days before wonder drugs and longer lives. But now, with science's new miracles promising millions of us our eighties and even our nineties, maybe we'd better try analyzing ourselves out of that "I'm too old," complex, the most crippling inferiority complex of all.

WITH SOME of us, it starts in the forties; with some much earlier. With some it's only a secret melancholia; with others it becomes as obvious as paralysis.

It's not only a sadness and a waste; it's a kind of premature dying.

The people I've mentioned certainly never had this complex, and as for 86-year-old Toscanini, I bet if somebody offered him an exciting new concert contract tomorrow, with ten years to run, he'd sign it in a flash.

Mother Not Bitter Toward Man Who Choked Daughter

TOKYO (AP)—The mother of little Susan Rothschild said today she has "no personal feeling of bitterness or revenge" toward an American sergeant who confessed that an "uncontrollable urge" drove him to strangle her 9-year-old daughter.

Sgt. Maurice L. Schick, 29, of Canonsburg, Pa., signed a confession today just six days after Susan's body was found in a drainage ditch at a housing project near here, the Army said.

Col. and Mrs. Jacquard H. Rothschild of Chicago called on Shick's wife and two tiny Japanese adopted daughters to offer "assistance and comfort."

The parents announced through an Army spokesman that they were "anxious that all the help and aid possible be given to Mrs. Shick and her daughters."

"My husband and I feel that Sgt. Shick is a sick man and we have no personal feeling of bitterness or revenge about what has transpired,' Mrs. Rothschild said.

Shick said in his signed statement that he had no reason to kill the Rothschild girl and never intended to rape her, the Army said.

An autopsy showed she had not been raped but disclosed large bruises on her face and throat.

Shick was quoted as saying he was talking to the girl and killed her when she started to leave.

His confession shocked residents of Sagamihara housing development, 30 miles south of here, where both Shick and the Rothschilds live.

Maureen Connolly, U.S. Tennis Queen, To Marry

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Tennis Queen Maureen Connolly announced her formal engagement last night but said she planned at least one more year of big time amateur tennis before marriage.

The 19-year-old holder of most of the world's major women's tennis titles said she will marry Norman Brinker, 22, a horseriding sailor, some time after his Navy enlistment ends in January 1955.

But first, she hopes to win the United States championship for the fourth time and the English title at Wimbledon for the third time in 1954.

Highway Patrol Lists Four Arrests

Four motorists were arrested for traffic violations by state patrolmen from the Marion post during the past 24 hours.

George E. Nichols, 38, of Dayton was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington. He was charged with excessive speed.

James J. Kidner, 42, of Detroit posted bond for his appearance in Municipal Court Dec. 5. He is charged with excessive speed. Alfred Hetkowski, 38, of Detroit posted bond for appearance today. He is charged with passing on a yellow line. Carol Ann Hostetter of Richwood was ordered to appear in court today. She is charged with driving with no operator's license.

Segregation Issue To Face Brownell

By JAY G. HAYDEN

WASHINGTON, (NANA) — Attorney General Brownell, now under fire because of his explosion of the Harry Dexter White charges, soon must mount the hot seat in another, although entirely unrelated, connection.

This is the issue of whether segregation of white and colored pupils in elementary schools, prevalent throughout the South and in some northern communities, is a violation of the 14th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution, which insures all citizens equal protection of laws.

Before next Dec. 7 Brownell must file a brief in the Supreme Court, defining exactly President Eisenhower's stand as between conflicting viewpoints, expressed in his campaign speeches last year.

MR. EISENHOWER went the limit in support of the principle of racial and religious equality. But also he leaned strongly toward state's rights in solution of human problems, as against dictation from Washington, and spoke of "gradualism," as distinguished from sudden and violent change, as the way to social reform.

Cases attacking school segregation in South Carolina, Virginia, Delaware, Kansas and the District of Columbia, were argued en bloc before the Supreme Court in December, 1952, and supposedly submitted for final decision.

Just before its summer recess last June, however, the court ordered a complete reargument, since set to begin Dec. 7, with a request to all parties to answer in the meantime, a series of questions.

THIS QUESTIONNAIRE dealt principally with three points.

1. Whether in ratifying the 14th Amendment Congress and state legislatures intended to abolish racial segregation.

2. If it was not designed to remove segregation immediately, did the amendment open the way for congressional or judicial action in that field.

3. If discontinuance of segregation is ordered, must admission of Negroes to white schools, or vice-versa, be immediate, or can the court permit a gradual adjustment, possibly involving return of the cases to lower courts or appointment of a special master to suggest processes of adjustment.

Up to date only two answering briefs have been received.

COUNSEL FOR Negro complainants against segregation have declared flatly that the makers of the 14th Amendment (ratified in 1866) intended that "it would of its own force prohibit all state actions predicated upon race or color.

". . . so far as there was consideration of the amendment's impact upon the undeveloped educational systems then existing, both proponents and opponents . . . understood that it would proscribe all racial segregation in public education."

A brief by the attorney general of Delaware, on the other hand, declares that "the debates in Congress . . . afford strong evidence that the 14th Amendment was considered to have no effect on public school segregation."

Further, this brief said the issue is up to Congress and, pending action by that body, the courts have no power to order an end of school segregation.

THE TWO most important briefs are still to be filed. First the southern states are still to be heard from. And second, Brownell must take a stand, on behalf of the Eisenhower administration, which is bound to have strong political repercussions whichever way it slants.

It is fairly certain that the administration will strongly oppose segregation in principle. But it can at the same time put a big crimp in practical realization of that end, either by questioning the court's right to enforce segregation without further legislation by Congress, or by favoring some process of "gradualism" in application of an antisegregation decree.

Meanwhile the states of South Carolina and Georgia have taken steps to abolish their entire public-school systems rather than accept a federal court order, outlawing segregation.

FOR MORE than half a century the generally accepted rule of law on the subject is a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Plessy vs. Ferguson. Segregation in railway cars was the issue in that action and the court held that separation of white and colored passengers was legal provided "equal facilities" were provided for each of them.

When school segregation was not mentioned in that finding it was advanced by lower courts in four of the present cases for denying the demand for outright abolishment of all racial distinctions in education.

A prime factor in the situation is the existence of segregation in not only schools but hospitals and other facilities in the District of Columbia, with renewed sanction by Congress once every year through appropriations separately for white and colored facilities.

Police Report 10 Automobile Accidents Here

Patrol Lists Two Mishaps, Involving Injury to One Person

No injuries were reported from ten traffic accidents on icy Marion streets today and yesterday, city police reported today. State patrolmen reported two accidents involving one injury.

A semi-truck and two cars were involved in an accident today at 8:34 a.m. on S. Main St. The truck operated by Harvey F. Hancock, 24, of near Edgerton, O., hit the rear of a parked car operated by Robert E. Metzeci, 34, of Cincinnati, pushing it into another parked car driven by Clyde Dexter, 39, of Hamilton. There was slight damage to each vehicle.

Cars driven by Robert E. Tharpe, 16, of near Marion, and James Davis, 23, of 239 Gurley Ave., were damaged in an accident Friday at 3:27 p.m. at W. Center and Leader Sts. The Tharpe car hit the Davis car which was making a left hand turned off of Leader St., the police report said. Tharpe was headed west on Center St.

Automobiles Collide

A car driven by Gerald Taylor, 35, of near Caledonia, traveling south on N. Main St., and a Red Cab driven by Richard N. Amrine, 27, of 819 S. Prospect St., collided yesterday at 4:32 p.m. on N. Main St. and Mark St. There was slight damage to the Amrine car.

Two cars were slightly damaged in an accident on S. Prospect St. at Kroger's parking lot yesterday at 6:20 p.m. Cars driven by Sheridan Severns, 44, of 897 Woodrow Ave., making a right turn into the parking lot, and Alberta Ehle, 27, of Richwood headed north on S. Prospect St., collided.

At S. Main and Church Sts. yesterday at 1:15 p.m., cars driven by James F. Crane, 16, of Toledo and Wilford H. McClarey, 30, of 766 Henry St., were involved in an accident. McClarey was northbound on St. Main St. and attempting a left turn onto Church when his car and Crane's collided. The left front of the Crane car was damaged.

Parked Car Hit

A parked car owned by Mary Arthur of 600 S. Prospect St. was damaged in the left front fender in an accident yesterday at 10:30 a.m. at 897 Cheney Ave. The Arthur car was hit by a Knickle Bakery truck driven by Floyd F. Radebaugh, 32, of near Prospect, which was backing up to park on Cheney Ave.

Two cars were slightly damaged in an accident yesterday at 8:57 a.m. at Boone Ave. and E. Center St. Cars driven by Virgil Leo Klaiber, 19, of 132 Waterloo St. was making a left turn off of Center St. when hit by a car driven by Mrs. Emma W. Stanbro of Herkimer, N. Y. A charge of failure to signal a turn was filed by Mrs. Stanbro against Klaiber.

At 4:59 p.m. yesterday at E. Center St. and Pennsylvania Ave., a car driven by G. F. Larie, 77, of 1053 E. Center St. struck a car operated by Evan Edgar Miller of 213 Glad St. Both cars were headed east on Center St. and both were slightly damaged.

Yesterday at 9:55 p.m. in an alley beside 206 S. State St., cars driven by Lewis Odell Thompson, 17, of 955 Leetonia Rd. and Jack F. Weis, 50, of 206 S. State St. were involved in an accident. The Weis car, which was backing into the alley, struck the Thompson car, headed west in the alley. There was slight damage to fenders of each car.

A car driven by Asa William Myers, 17, of near LaRue struck a telephone pole in an accident at 8:12 p.m. yesterday at W. Center and Waterloo Sts. Myers was traveling west on Center St. when his car skidded and hit the pole at the southwest corner of the streets. The right side and front of the car was damaged.

County Woman Injured

A Marion County woman was slightly injured in one of two accidents reported today by highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

Mrs. Mary L. Slack of near Marion received bruises on both legs as her car went off the road on County Road 138 (Barks Road) at 7:45 Friday morning.

Mrs. Slack told investigating patrolmen she was westbound on the road and met an oncoming car. Patrol reports show she pulled over to the right, lost control of the vehicle, and went across the road, off the left side, and sideswiped a power pole.

Considerable damage was done to the car. Mrs. Slack did not require treatment for her bruises.

A Marion man was arrested after becoming involved in an accident on State Route 95, just west of U. S. Route 30-S, Friday at 4 p.m.

John A. George, 67, of 241 Edwards St. was ordered to appear in Municipal Court today to answer a charge of failing to yield the right of way.

Patrolmen charge he turned out of a private drive into the path of a car driven by Glenn W. Cowgill, 55, of 233 Park Blvd. Minor damage was done when Cowgill was unable to avoid striking the other car, according to patrol reports.

IN PUBLIC EYE AGAIN. Actress June Haver, who gave up a screen career to enter a Kansas convent and then had to give up the religious life there because of ill health, makes her first public appearance since her return. She is shown listening to Joe Campbell, who escorted her with her agent, to a dinner in Hollywood at which the Screen Producers Guild honored Darryl F. Zanuck.

Who Ordered Navy Goat Be Returned by Cadets?

By EDWARD K. NELLOR

WASHINGTON (NANA) — West Point cadets need more field training in swiping goats.

This is the opinion of Annapolis midshipmen standng 24-hour guard over the Navy's famous billy goat.

Billy was "removed," as Navy spokesmen delicately put it, last Sunday by visiting cadets. He was returned intact at 8 p.m. Monday after the Navy had followed a yard-wide trail of clues from Annapolis to West Point.

It is still a mystery who gave the orders to return the goat. It was undoubtedly a case of surrender to "higher authorities." But a quest in the Pentagon's labyrinthine corridors trying to pin down the mystery led to only one conclusion—everyone was ducking the goat issue.

BOTH NAVY AND ARMY officials declined to comment on reports that "higher authorities," meaning President Dwight D. Eisenhower, ordered the cadets to surrender Billy in the interest of service harmony. All the Navy will say officially, is that the Army brought him back.

Half the surrounding population at Annapolis apparently witnessed Billy's travels from Annapolis in the company of the cadets. From the number of telephone calls to Navy officers at the midshipmen's base it is apparent also that native Marylanders are extremely goat conscious . . . especially when one is seen without a Navy escort.

The most recent snatch of Billy is the second since the Navy mascot joined the seagoing forces in 1947. In 1952 Maryland University students infiltrated Navy defenses at Annapolis and, carried the bleating prize to College Park, homesite of the university. He was returned in this instance, also, in the wake of formal and somewhat strained overtures of interest in his whereabouts.

THESE AT LEAST are the only two occasions of Billy's meanderings that spokesmen for the academy will admit officially. There are reports, however, that Billy has been "lost" on occasions when victorious midshipmen charged with his welfare grew neglectful in post-game celebrations in various communities.

Normally housed in a pen in Thompson stadium at Annapolis, Billy is now enjoying the comforts of Bancroft Hall, indoor Navy drill field. Here he is complacently mulling over his travels while under official 24 - hour watch. His loss now would be a serious blow to Navy prestige when midshipmen meet the cadets on the football field in Philadelphia Saturday.

Billy's digestion is undisturbed by his recent experience. Some midshipmen contemplated a diet of cadet uniforms for him if any West Pointers were foolish or unfortunate enough to wander on to the Navy reservation between now and Saturday.

—:—

AS A BASIC military maneuver, midshipmen admit the cadets did a pretty good job in swiping Billy. Cadet talents for camouflage and secrecy, however, are reported to be pitiful. A spokesman for the midshipmen admits, in the same breath, however, that few of them have had any experience in carrying a goat several hundred miles on a foggy night in an automobile.

Officially the kidnaping of Billy is a dead issue. Everybody at both military establishments anticipates further comment and visual displays of service feelings in pre-game activities on Saturday just the same. Only Billy appears interested in taking the incident lying down.

as a man who loved solitude. Funeral plans are in keeping with that characteristic — strictly private with no public announcement of the time or place.

O'Neill's private life at times was almost as turbulent as those of a character in one of his plays. He was married three times, the last in 1929.

His only daughter, Oona, is the wife of movie comedian Charlie Chaplin.

O'Neil first tasted fame at the Wharf Theater in Provincetown, from where he moved to New York's Greenwich Village and then Broadway. His road to fame started with "Bound East for Cardiff," which he read at Provincetown.

He spurned Hollywood offers with the comment that the screen "never interested me as a medium."

He was an inveterate wanderer. In 1909, he prospected for gold in Spanish Honduras but malaria fever forced him to return home. He next toured with a theatrical company as assistant manager and followed that with two years at sea as a crewman "tending Mules," as he expressed it.

He was also a cub reporter in New London, Conn., until lung trouble forced him into a sanitarium for six months.

It was during that illness that he decided to write and in the ensuing months he turned out 11 one-act plays and two long ones.

Born in New York City, O'Neill attended Princeton for one year and later was a student in Prof. George Pierce Baker's playwriting classes at Harvard. He was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of literature by Yale University in 1926.

His first wife was Kathleen Jenkins, whom he married in 1909. They had one son, Eugene Jr., who killed himself at Woodstock, N. Y., in 1950. After his divorce in 1912, O'Neill married Agnes Boulton in 1918. They had two children, Shane and Oona. Shane has not been in contact with his father for many years and his whereabouts is unknown.

Divorce also ended that marriage in 1929 and that same year he married Carlotta Monterey.

Ex-Prisoners Plan Reunion At Game Today

29 Officers Captured By Reds Will Attend Army-Navy Classic

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Army-Navy football game is a deluxe extravaganza for the rabid sports fan but to 29 of the 102,000 happy persons here today to watch the contest it is a dream come true.

The 29 are offiers who were prisoners of the Communists in Korea.

All of the ex-POW's are still in service, with most of them still under medical treatment in service hospitals.

One Still Too Sick

Navy Lt. J. W. Thornton reported "with regret" that Bruce Shawe, a West Point graduate and one of the prime movers in the reunion, planned since 1952, would not attend. Army physicians in San Francisco said he was not well enough to make the long trip.

Shawe secured the game tickets for his buddies and their wives, Thornton said.

The men spent the night at Willow Grove Naval Air Station at suburban Horsham and will be given special transportation to Municipal Stadium.

"We'll be there unless there is 15 feet of snow and, even then, we may make it," Thornton said.

Because of crowded hotels the Navy waived regulations to provide accomodations for the Korean veterans, who represent all the services.

Guests at Dance

After the game the former prisoners of war and their wives will be guests of honor at a dinner dance at the Willow Grove officers' club.

Thornton was the last of the 29 to return to the United States from captivity, arriving here Sept. 24.

He said none of "our gang" will be neutral and noted the cheers would be divided. The group includes Marine Capt. Charles Martin of Philadelphia, Air Force Capt. William C. McTagart of East Brady, Pa.; Army Capts. Michael Ivanuska of Detroit and Joseph O'Connor of Pottstown, Pa., and Thornton—the only Navy man.

Three Ohioans are in the group. They are Army Capt. William A. McClain of Youngstown, Air Force Capt. Larry Miller of Berlin, and Army Lt. Ralph Dickson of Cincinnati.

King and Queen To Attend

Also in the standing-room-only crowd will be King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece. They are squeezing the game into their crowded schedule and will eat as their luncheon meal, a couple of hotdogs and soda pop.

Secretary of Defense Wilson will occupy the box usually reserved for the President ("Ike" decided to play golf instead of watch football).

He will be joined by other members of the Cabinet and top Army and Navy brass.

Library at Cornell Gets Shakespeare Collection

ITHACA, N.Y. (UP) — A set of four Shakespeare folios, regarded as English language collectors' items, has been given to the Cornell University Library.

The folios are the earliest known source for 20 of Shakespeare's plays, including "Macbeth," "Julius Caesar," "The Tempest," and "The Taming of the Shrew."

President Deane W. Malott, who declined to place a dollar value on the folios, said they were the gift of William G. Mennen, a Cornell University alumnus now living in Morristown, N.J.

NOTED MUSICIAN DIES

HARWICH, Mass. (AP) — Herbert C. Peabody, 79, nationally known composer, organist and choirmaster, died here yesterday.

MILTON BERLE, the $25,000 a week "Mr. Television," announces that in December he will write a happy ending to his romance with Ruth Cosgrove, which for a couple of years has been running along like a to-be-continued serial. Friends said Berle, shown here with his bride-to-be, would be married at Miami Beach, Fla.

City Police Arrest Five For Traffic Violations

Five persons were arrested by Marion police during the past 24 hours for traffic violations. They were all ordered to appear in court today.

Persons arrested and the charge follow: Arthur Lewis Plantz, 36, of near Prospect, excessive speed; Jerald W. Criswell, 22, of Green Camp, excessive speed; Cleveland D. Rhoades, 68, of near Marion, no safety chains; Leonard F. Rollison, of 368 N. Main St., illegal riding on a motorcycle; and Harry H. Potts, 27, of 203½ Bellevue Ave., excessive speed.

Fire

flames continued to lick at the wrecks of buildings.

The blaze broke out in a jammed tenement section. Police said it started in a charcoal oven left unattended by a housewife.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour rolled the flames 1½ miles along a path a half-mile wide before the fire burned itself out on fire breaks pushed up by bulldozers and dynamite.

The huge Pusan railroad station was reduced to a charred skeleton. Other structures burned out included two of the three major buildings of the headquarters of the U.S. Army's Korean base section, three of Pusan's four major daily newspapers, the branch offices of the Korean Pacific Press, the Korean post office, American Army chapel and the compound of a neutral nations truce inspection team.

Thousands of American soldiers and Korean firemen battled the fire.

Bus Driver Is New Assistant for Stork

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) — A bus driver, on a trip from Florence to Phoenix, came out with an extra passenger recently—a seven pound, 10-ounce baby boy whom he delivered en route.

Driver Lee M. Mll, 39, of Phoenix, said the first indication of his predicament was when another passenger told him, "A lady back there in the bus is having a baby."

Mull stopped at Florence Junction, got sterilized scissors, string and a bottle of alcohol, and proceeded to deliver the infant. The mother, Mrs. Carmen Flores, Phoenix, and son were "doing fine" when they arrived at a Phoenix hospital by ambulance an hour later.

"I wasn't a bit nervous, but that little squirt bellowed just like a bull," said Mull.

His forced entrance into the field of obstetrics wasn't without recognition.

A week later, Mull's fellow drivers presented him with an "honorary M.D. certificate."

dealings with the Korean situation.

This would include India, Sweden, Switzerland, Poland and Czechoslovakia—all members of armistice commissions—and Pakistan and Chile, which belong to the U. N. commission for unification and rehabilitation of Korea.

Burma and Indonesia, which the Reds have suggested, would not be eligible.

Dean's formula or a comprisime version of it could almost immediately end the dragging negotiations to set up a peace conference, an Allied spokesman said.

"I certainly hope to be home by Christmas," Dean told newsmen.

Elsewhere, Allied members of the Joint Military Armistice Commission proposed that a neutral supervisory team investigate a report that "battalions" of war prisoners still are held by the Reds.

The report came from three North Korean soldiers who fled to an American sentry box at Panmunjom Nov. 29 and asked for sanctuary. The three said they were ROK soldiers who had been captured by the Reds and impressed into the Communist army.

Meanwhile, Communist explanations to prisoners of war who have refused to go home remained stalled. And the U. N. Command has not indicated when it plans to start interviewing 22 American 1 Briton and 328 South Koreans who reportedly rejected repatriation.

Try at Insurance Fails, Man Jailed

HUGOTON, Kan. (UP) — Nomination for the "imperfect crime."

An auto burned near Hugoton.

Investigating officials found it had been liberally sprinkled with kerosene.

On the cylinder block were partly burned matches.

In a ditch nearby was an empty kerosene can.

While the fire still was in progress, Albert R. Collins, 60, of Batesville, Ark., the owner of the destroyed vehicle, was picked up as a hitchhiker not far from the scene.

It also developed that, although the car was burned at mid-evening, Collins had called his insurance company in Arkansas six hours earlier and reported that his car had been consumed by fire.

In Stevens County district court, Collins admitted he had done "a punk job." He pleaded guilty to arson.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Fire swept through the Dannen Mill here last night. First estimate of the loss was placed at one million dollars.

Six New York Papers Struck By Engravers

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike today disrupted publication of six major New York City newspapers—all except the Herald Tribune.

Five hundred members of the AFL International Photo-Engravers Union, the men who make metal plates to reproduce pictures in the papers, walked out demanding higher pay and other benefits.

Their action was given force when some 20,000 members of other unions—newsmen, printers, telephone operators—refused to cross picket lines and did not report for work.

The Herald Tribune was not affected because it has a contract with a commercial firm for its photo-engraving plants.

Hit by the strike were the Times, Daily News, Daily Mirror, all morning newspapers, and the Journal - American, World - Telegraph Sun, and the Post, afternoon newspapers. The afternoon newspapers were the first affected.

The Journal-American succeeded in printing one early edition before the strike became effective at about 8:30 a. m. EST.

The Post said it would not print any editions today. The World-Telegram & Sun was not publishing.

All the struck morning papers, however, printed pre-dated Sunday editions during the night and expected they would appear on newsstands tomorrow morning.

The struck newspapers announced that, starting Monday morning, they will take advertising space in the Herald Tribune to print news. They will divide the stories among themselves to avoid duplication.

All the struck newspapers were being picketed.

About 400 men gathered across the street from the main entrance of the Times. They shouted "scab" and booed those employes who did enter the building.

Dennis Burke, president of the striking union, said "to the best of my knowledge" no employes who are members of other unions, except possibly deliverers, were entering the struck plants.

The photo-engravers, who get $120 a week for day work and $131 for night work, have asked for a $15 a week pay increase. They said the publishers had offered a $3.75 "package," including a pay increase, an additional holiday and an added welfare program contribution.

The next time that you see this boy, give him another look

We mean your newspaperboy.

The reason for giving him another look is that we think you'll notice something different about him.

You see, he's in business for himself and it has taught him something he couldn't learn from books.

Better than most boys, he knows what dependability means. He understands what service really is. Punctuality has become important to him. Because he has something at stake, he has learned to meet and like people.

He's already accepting man-sized responsibilities — and is in training to accept still larger ones tomorrow.

Most boys like to be independent. And this one is. He earns his own spending money, buys some of his own clothes, is saving for his education and maybe even contributing something toward helping to run his home.

So look at him again and we think you'll see that a lot of this shows. Because with his parents, we share a great deal of pride in the job he's doing — and hope you do too.

THE MARION STAR

P.S. . . . Every boy is entitled to the benefits of carrying a newspaper route. If he is willing to supply the ambition, we would like to supply the opportunity. If your son is interested, why not have him call us today (2-1101) regarding the availability of a route in your neighborhood.

The Latest Howl

Dogs' Housing Problems Given Writer's Attention

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

How to build a dog house seems to be a far cry from the problems usually pursued in this department. But it isn't. It's just the latest howl. A reader wants to know how to plan a dog house. Maybe she assumes we must have had experience inside such a structure.

Well, we don't happen to have any doghouse plans with two bathrooms and expansion attics on our desk at the moment. But since dogs are a problem to householders everywhere and since the construction of a good dog house might set an example for much modern construction, let's take a look at the dog problem.

A Bone of Contention

If you don't think this involves a bone of contention, you must live in the best of regulated neighborhoods, Harry Henderson, writing about big suburban developments in Harper's magazine, observes that one detail the super planners overlook in new home communities is dogs—dogs brought from apartments by young home buyers, who turn the pooches loose to roam through neighbors yards.

"The result," says Henderson, "is that the dogs form great packs which race through the area, knocking down small boys and girls, and wrecking gardens and flower beds." When they are tied up they howl and bark. When they are locked up in the house, they charge out to bite mail carriers and delivery men. In one community 13 mail carriers were bitten in one summer.

Now this is no criticism of the best friend a reporter ever had. In fact, we love dogs just as much as (and when) they love us. While raking up some rubbish in the fall, we found that neighbor Harry O'M's handsome and lanky Irish setter pup was a wonderful diversion—a perfect time killer, barking at each reach of the rake and running after every stick we'd throw—until we took off a good pigskin glove to light a match to the rubbish pile and the pup ran off with the glove.

Well, we didn't complain to Harry O'M, but meeting J. D. of Ho-ho-kus, N. J., (which is many miles away), we unburdened.

"You know, John," we said, "we can't keep on buying five-dollar gloves for a pup to hide in the woods."

"Try buckshot," John said. But that wasn't the answer. Who would want to hurt a handsome animal like Harry's setter pup? Besides, our village has rules against guns. buns.

Sling Shot Suggested

"You don't want a gun," John replied. "Get a sling shot. All suburbanites use sling shots. You can make one. It's a good do-it-yourself project. Or buy one. They are advertised in the papers. They don't hurt the dogs. Just sting 'em and they won't come back."

Well, no dog in this David's neighborhood is named Goliath, so we haven't tried John's sling shot idea. But to see the holes made in our newly sewn lawn you'd think that all dogs were giants of horse size.

And it made us feel sad the other day when neighbor Harry said he'd given his setter away—too many complaints from people.

So we decided that if we ever had a dog again, the way we'd plan a dog house would be to keep a nice soft rug in front of the fireplace and cut a swinging panel in the bottom of the front door so Rover could run in and out to his heart's content—in, to get away from the neighbors, and out, to remind them that the best part of living in a house is—living.

CITY EMPLOYES LAID OFF

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Carl F. Wise, who has laid off 14 city employes in an economy move, said today he would lay off another 10 next week. The moves would save about $70,000 and the city is facing a $553,000 deficit next year.

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q.: In my living room I have two casement windows that I would like to do away with. Could I have glass block put in successfully. My reason for this is that the windows open in and create a drapery problem and they also permit rain to leak through. Do you think this is practical?

A.: It will be perfectly practical. After removing the casement windows it will be necessary to frame out the opening so that the glass blocks can be set in mortar. Before doing this, I suggest that you obtain a catalogue from one of the manufacturers so that the proper size opening could be made to receive either a six, eight, or twelve-inch block. The actual dimentions of these block are about one-quarter inch less than those given above. You should be able to get a catalogue from one of the building material dealers in or near your city.

Q.: Our house is about three-years old and when it was built the contractor placed an already-painted rainspout on the front and back of the building. The spout is now showing bare spots and much of the paint is peeling. Should the metal be conditioned before new paint is applied

A.: Evidently the downspouts are of galvanized metal. Remove the remainder of the paint and then wash the surfaces with vinegar. When dry, coat the metal with red lead or a zinc-base rust inhibitive paint. The final coats of paint can be ordinary house paint to match the walls.

Q.: We have a cement-tile roof on our stone-veneered bungalow. Originally the tiles were green in color, but since the house was built in 1928 the color practically disappeared. Is there any paint suitable for such tiles if so, how should it be applied

A.: If a large portion of the cement in the shingles is exposed, it should be quite possible to obtain a good finish by coating the shingles with a cement-base paint. This paint comes in powder form and is mixed with water. After brushing off all soot and dust, the shingles should be well dampened with clear water. The paint is then applied. It would be wise to keep the fresh coating damp for at least twenty-four hours to allow the cement to set. Usually two coats are necessary. The paint can be purchased through dealers in masonry materials. Rubber-base masonry paint can be used in place of the above, if the shingles are still well coated.

Man and Two Daughters Die in Home Explosion

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 26-year-old man and his two young daughters were killed in a predawn explosion and fire today that destroyed their four-room bungalow in the Mt. Washington section of this steel city.

The dead are Byron R. Martin and daughters, Cheryl, 5, and Carol, 4. His wife Ann, 24, and two other children, Byron Jr., 2, and Edna, 6 months, escaped with minor injuries.

An accumulation of natural gas apparently was ignited by the fire and exploded in a room adjacent to the bedrooms. A neighbor who had spotted the fire and was on her way to warn the Martins was tossed to the sidewalk by the blast.

TO NOTE ANNIVERSARY

UPPER SANDUSKY — Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Kauble of near Forest will celebrate their 59th wedding anniversary at their home Sunday, with a family dinner. They are the parents of four children, Harry Kauble of Forest, Mrs. Alice Alheit of Elyria, and Mrs. Ethel Johnson and Miss Ruth Kauble, at home. They also have two grandchildren.

MAN DIES IN MOTEL

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Coroner B. F. Voorhees was expected to rule today on the death of Howard E. Gilbert, 32, whose body was found in a motel cabin here yesterday. He aparently was asphyxiated by exhaust fumes from his car in an adjacent garage. Authorities said Gilbert was en route from Ecorse, Mich., where he was employed, to his home in Oklahoma City.

SCORED HARDBOARD in a 4-inch tile pattern, specially treated to make it moisture-resistant and long wearing, makes an economical and attractive covering for sad looking, cracked plaster walls. When painted or enameled, with the scored lined colored in contrast, these hardboard panels give a kitchen a smart appearance. A striping tool is used to paint the score lines neatly. Available at all well-stocked lumber yards, scored hardboard panels can be cut with a crosscut saw in any direction, making it relatively simple to fit them together. Dealers carry complete instructions for installation and will recommend metal moldings to cover joints between panels.

Student Panelists To Be Joined by Favorite Teacher

The Marion Youth Forum broadcast Sunday afternoon will feature a panel of five students from the city's junior and senior high schools and their favoriet teacher—Miss Helen May of the Eber Baker faculty.

How can relations between student and teacher be improved? will be discussed by panelists Helen Kennell, a Harding junior; Connie Morison, Baker ninth grader; Judy Brown, Taft eighth grader; Nancy Creasap, Edison seventh grader; and Bob Knachel, Harding senior.

These panelists picked Miss May as the teacher they thought had done most for youth and asked her to appear on the program, scheduled over WMRN from 3:05 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

She is Latin and algebra teacher at Baker and is sponsor of the following youth organizations: Baker Student Council; 9th Grade Hi-Y boys, and the Junior and Senior Youth Fellowships at the First Presbyterian Church. She is secretary of the Marion YMCA board and is active in the Marion Education Association. She received her BA degree from Otterbein University and her MA in guidance from Ohio State.

A Marion businessman will be invited to appear on the panel next week when the topic will be: How can youths best prepare for their jobs

Boy Likes Hospital, Wants To Spend Christmas There

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Many youngsters don't like hospitals but 14-year-old Tommy Ebbert wants to spend his Christmas there.

Tommy still is recovering from burns suffered three years ago when six members of his family lost their lives in a blaze which destroyed their ohme.

Since then the youngster has been shuttling back and forth between Children's Hospital here and the children's home at Williamsburg, Pa. He enjoys the home but says he wants to stay in the hospital as long as he can so surgeons can complete their surgery faster.

The only survivors were Tommy and his father. His father has recovered but not enough to work and make a home for them.

Tommy's left hand is permanently crippled and searing burns left many scars. But doctors still hope to save his right hand and work constantly to rebuild his body and face.

So far the boy has undergone 17 operations—he's now in the hospital recuperating from the latest. Doctors and nurses say his will to recover is an important factor.

Music Publishers Say Parodies Infringe Rights

CINCINNATI (AP)—Do parodies of popular songs infringe copyrights?

Two music publishers believe so and they ask $50,000 damages apiece in U.S. District Court. They said in a suit filed yesterday Hillbilly & Western Hoedown Magazine printed parodies of their hits, "Hey Joe," and "I Forgot More Than You'll Ever Know."

The Tannen Music Co. and Fairway Music Co., both of New York City, instituted the action.

German Model Charged With Spying for Reds

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—A pretty former German model facing spy charges for allegedly trying to buy secret information from a U. S. soldier said today she "loved him very much."

And everything she had done, she claimed in a jail interview was out of love for her 18-month-old son and a brother.

The 24-year-old blonde, Margarete Pfeiffer, is slated for a preliminary hearing before the U. S. District Court here Monday. She is charged with spying for Communist-ruled Czechoslavakia.

U. S. Dist. Atty. William D. Canfield said she was arrested the moment she tried to pay a soldier 1,000 marks ($238) for military information. The soldier, Pvt. William J. Eicher of McKeesport, Pa., had tipped off the Army.

Hinged Workbench Helps Solve Space Problem in Garage

No garage is complete without a work-bench, but there is rarely space for such a convenience. However, this can be easily overcome by building a bench that is hinged against the wall and drops down out of the way when not in use.

Construction merely entails a frame of 2 x 4s to which a 3 x 8-foot panel of ¾-inch-thick plywood is fastened with counter-sunk screws. This provides a smooth, unbroken surface. Three 2 x 4-inch legs, one at each front corner and one halfway between them, are hinged to the underside of the frame so they will fold away when the work-bench is dropped flush against the wall.

Most convenient working height is 36 inches, so the workbench should be hinged to the wall at this heigth above the floor. The supporting legs should be slightly shorter, to allow for the frame of the bench, so the bench is perfectly level when swung up into working position.

Another plywood panel should be fastened to the wall above the workbench to serve as a handy rack for tools.

Ben Bechtel To Play For Program of Music

Presenting another in a series of Twilight Musicales Sunday over Station WMRN will be Ben Bechtel, pianist and president of the youth group of the Marion Lecture-Recital Club. The quarter-hour broadcast at 3:45 p.m. is a project of the Marion Lecture-Recital Club.

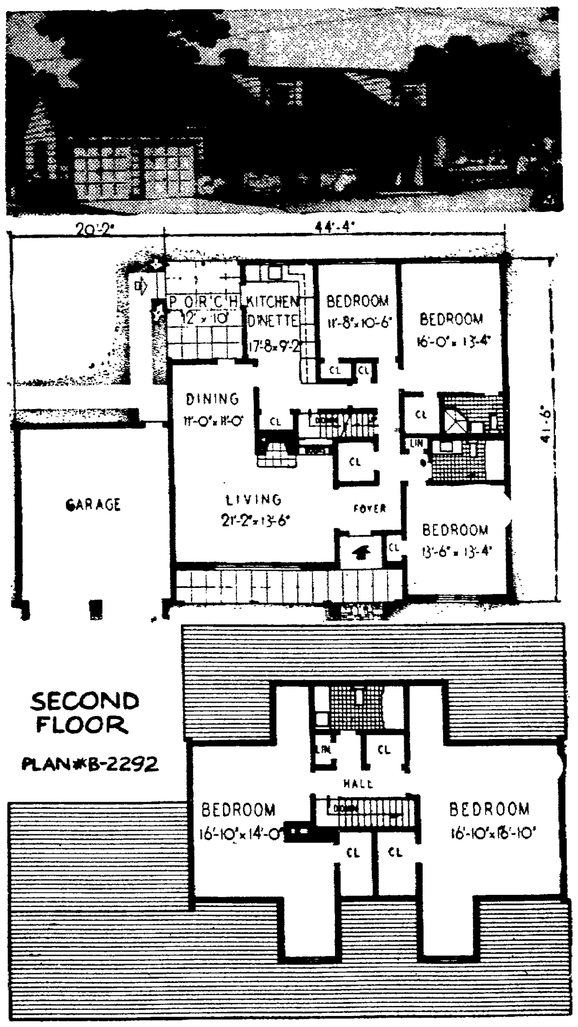
'Southern Charm' House



By The Associated Press

FROZEN LACE of the Deep South adds charm to this low cottage-style dwelling with wrought iron columns on front porch. There is a capacity of five bedrooms and three baths when the attic is finished. A center hall gives the house unusually good traffic control. The house covers 2,082 square feet and the two-car garage 420 square feet. The finished second floor adds 1,025 square feet of floor space. This is Plan B-2292 by Alwin Cassens, Jr., architect, 145 S. Franklin Ave., Valley Stream, N. Y.

(Further information and blueprints available from architect)

City Building Permits

Eight building permits with a total valuation of $1,255 were issued at the Marion City Clerk's office during the period from Nov. 20 through Nov. 27.

Permits were issued as follows: Elwood Stone, 128 St. Clair St., one-room addition to house, $100.

Howard and Doris Keith, 218 Merchant Ave., remodeling, $25.

George D. Bishop, 820 N. State St., enclose porch, $10.

McCarthy Charge Rapped by General

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor (ret.) says Sen Joseph R. McCarthy's investigation of Ft. Monmouth, N. J. "calculated to create panic, destroy public confidence in the Army and undermine military morale."

Unless the Wisconsin Republican proves his allegations of espionage at the fort, Taylor said yesterday, "he will stand condemned as a dangerous adventurer who does not hesitate to gamble with the national security in order to gratify his own ambitions."

Some 150 Military Academy cadets, officers and guests heard Taylor at a meeting of the West Point Debate Council and Forum. The retired general, who was chief U. S. prosecutor at the Nuernberg war crimes trials, is now practicing law in New York City and is active in Democratic circles there.

NEW COLLEGE BUILDING

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (UP)—Construction will start soon on a new $1,000,000 chemistry building at Mount Holyoke College. The new structure will replace Shattuck Hall, which was built in 1892.

Mother of 7 Questioned in Shooting Mate

IRONTON, Ohio, (AP)—A 23-year-old mother of seven who is expecting another child was under questioning today in the fatal shooting of her husband at their home seven miles northeast of Ironton.

Sheriff Carl E. Rose said Beryl Hammonds, 28, a taxi driver, died in Lawrence County General Hospital a few hours after being shot in the right temple with a .22 caliber rifle bullet.

Held without charge for questioning was his wife, Thelma. The sheriff gave this account of the shooting:

Hammonds returned home about 2 a. m. After an argument with his wife, who claimed he mistreated her, he retred. Hsi wife fired two shots from a rifle. One bullet grazed his face, the other struck him in the temple.

Three of the Hammonds' children have died. The others range in age from 6 years to 8 months.

Wife of Wanted Man Says Mate Good to Her

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex (AP)—The pretty wife of Sidney Gordon Martin, arrested by the FBI as one of the nation's 10 most wanted men, says her husband was "always good" to her.

Martin, 30, surrendered meekly yesterday when FBI agents apprehended him as he worked at his job as a plasterer for a local construction firm.

The FBI, saying the arrest followed a tip by an alert citizen, said Martin was sought for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He is accused of robbing a farmer in Belcherton, Mass., after shooting the man twice and beating him on the head with a heavy rock. The farmer recovered.

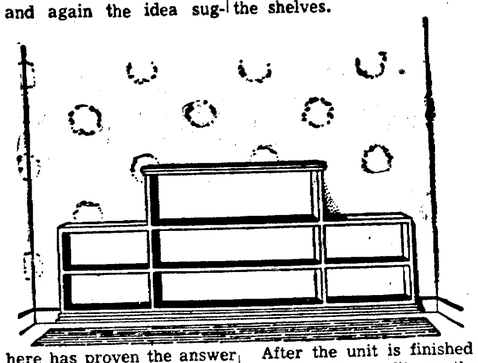
YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

All homeowners have had a decorating problem with one or more rooms in their house. Some are too small for the furniture, others extremely bare looking and still others completely fail to respond to any grouping of furniture or the best decorative efforts. These are the rooms that we usually refer to as "difficult."

Time and again the idea suggested here has proven the answer to this problem, so that the use of a wall unit has become a general remedy.



The unit shown here is made entirely of standard, sanded, eleven inch shelving, available in any lumber yard or building material shop. The first step in building a unit of this kind is to cut the three long pieces needed for the base, top and intermediate shelf. The next step is to cut alength long enough to make the smaller top shelf of the center extension. Then the two side or end pieces are cut and six filler pieces to fit between the shelves and to act as sides for the center extension. Care should be taken in cutting the filler pieces which divide the long shelves. They should be very accurate to insure a snug fit between the shelves.

After the unit is finished in the rough it will benefit greatly by the use of a heavy ornamental molding around the bottom as illustrated and by the use of a narrower molding around the top of the center extension. If desired, the entire back can be closed in with a sheet of thin plywood, or in many cases the unit is left open. If a back is used, many excellent decorating effects can be gotten by the use of contrasting color.

Arthur Godfrey's Mom Writes Marching Tune

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Arthur Godfrey's 75-year-old mother heard the 90-piece Toronto Symphony give the first public performance last night of her composition 'Marine Boys March."

White-haired Mrs. Kathryn Godfrey stood in the first balcony and blew kisses to conductor Andre Kostelanetz after her brief work was warmly applauded by a crowd of 2,500.

The mother of the American television and radio star said she had written the march several years ago but it never had been played in public before. Friends said she had sent it and other original scores to Kostelanetz after they became acquainted aboard ship some years ago.

Describing the march as a "louid, rousing piece," the conductor said, "It's got a catchy tune and is really very good."

DOG IS SAFE

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Joseph A. Kimmel

UPPER SANDUSKY — Joseph Albert Kimmel, 81, died at his home here at 6:45 this morning. He had been in serious condition for the past three weeks.

He spent most of his life in or near Wharton in Wyandot County before moving to Upper Sandusky 10 years ago. He was born in Richland Township in Wyandot County, June 4, 1872.

On Nov. 23, 1898, he married Alpheus Lockwood, who survives. He was a farmer and carpenter during his lifetime. He is also survived by a son, Dale D. Kimmel of Upper Sandusky, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Shuman and Mrs. Claire Stimpfle, both of Upper Sandusky. Also surviving are two brothers, Lewis Kimmel of Carey and Wheeler Kimmel of Mt. Blanchard; and a sister, Mrs. John Kleopfer of Vanlue. Four brothers and one sister are dead.

He was a member of the Apostolic Church in Upper Sandusky.

Funeral services will be Monday at 2 p.m., at the Lucas Funeral Home, Rev. Earl Little officiating. Burial will be in St. Paul Cemetery at Vanlue. Friends may call after noon Sunday at the funeral home.

Mrs. John A. Cochran

EDISON — Mrs. F. Gertrude Cochran, 72, of Mt. Vernon, mother of an Edison man, died in Memorial Hospital at Mt. Vernon Thursday after a six weeks illness. She was the widow of John A Cochran.

In addition to her son, Burgess Cochran, she is survived by two daughters, a brother and sister 10 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

Her daughters are Mrs. Lloyd Wilson and Mrs. Inez McCleae, both of Fredericktown. The surviving brother is C. B. Meyers of Mt. Vernon, and the surviving sister is Mrs. J. B. Sensel, also of Mt. Vernon. Another sister is dead.

Funeral services will be Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Vine St. Christian Church in Mt. Vernon. Burial will be at Mt. Vernon Cemetery.

Thomas O. Bailey

BUCYRUS — Thomas Oscar Bailey, 69, Bucyrus painter and paperhanger, died Friday morning in Bucyrus City Hospital where he had been a patient a week.

Born July 12, 1884, in Savannah, O., he was a son of Thomas W. and Amelia A. Shane Bailey. He was married Sept. 2, 1918, to Elta M. Leistensnider, who survives. A sister, Miss Rae Bailey of Waashington, D. C., also survives. Two brothers, two sisters and two daughters are dead.

Mr. Bailey moved here in 1937 from Akron.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Lutz Funeral Home. Rev. R. S. Stephens, pastor of Bucyrus Church of Christ, will officiate and burial will be in Savannah Cemetery. Friends may call Sunday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

Miss Dorcas G. Beer

BUCYRUS — Miss Dorcas G. Beer, 87, a retired school teacher, died at 8:15 a.m. today in Bucyrus City Hospital following an illness of two weeks. Her home was at 306 W. Southern Ave., this city.

Born Dec. 31, 1865, in Bucyrus, she was a daughter of Thomas Beer and Tabitha Dinsmore Beer. She taught school at Yonkers, N. Y., and in Bucyrus a number of years, retiring in 1930. She was graduated from the Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh, Pa., and received her master's degree at Wooster College. A member of the Bucyrus Presbyterian Church, she helped organize the Red Cross in Bucyrus in 1917 and organized the local chapter of the DAR, serving as its regent 12 years.

Only survivor is a niece, Miss Mary Beer of the family home. She was the last of a family of eight, four brothers and three sisters preceding her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday at the family home by Rev. George A. Johnson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Burial will be made in Oakwood Cemetery. Friends may call at the home after 1 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. B. R. Felt

Mrs. Marie A. Felt, 73, wife of B. R. Felt, died at 8:30 a.m. today in her home, 717½ E. Center St. Although stricken with a heart ailment 18 months ago, her death this morning was unexpected.

The family had lived in Marion for the last 30 years, coming here from Bellevue where Mrs. Felt was born Jan. 8, 1880. Her parents were William and Anna Resch Schafer, natives of Germany. Her marriage to Mr. Felt, Marion real estate man, was Nov. 16, 1898. She was a member of Emanuel Lutheran Church and the Elks Women's Club.

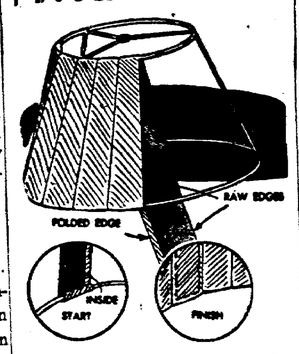
Surviving with the husband are two sons, Douglas S. Felt of Indianapolis, and V. D. Felt of St. James St. Four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the L. A. Axe & Son Funeral Home on Mt. Vernon Ave. Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church, will officiate and burial will be in the Bellevue Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 o'clock this evening.

HOLLYWOOD REALISM

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—It must have been a realistic movie Paul Pendergrass saw. Pendergrass said that one scene in the movie showed watches of all actors and actresses stopping due to magnetism. When Pendergrass left the theater, he found his watch had stopped for the first time in three years. A jeweler could find nothing wrong with the watch, which suddenly started working again.

Make Do



TO RE-COVER a lamp shade frame, cut a continuous 3-inch bias strip from any kind of material. Fold the left edge of the strip under about ¼-inch. Attach strip with a tacking stitch to the bottom wire of the frame. Wrap the material around the frame, making sure that the folded edge overlaps the raw edge so there are no gaps. At the finish, fold both edges of the material under and tack to frame.

Patrol Lists Two Morrow Auto Accidents

Two accidents were reported in Morrow County today by state patrolmen from the Marion post. No injuries resulted from either.

Minor damage was reported to both cars involved in an acciden on U. S. Route 61, two and one-half miles south of Fulton at 2 p.m. Friday. The cars did not collide, but went off the road in an effort to avoid striking another car.

One car, driven by Samuel B. Easted, 16, of Cardington, went off the road into a ditch on the right side. Another car driven by Robert A. Thomas, 33, of Wellington went into a ditch off the left side of the road.

Both cars were northbound at the time of the accident. Drivers told patrolmen, they swerved in an effort to avoid on unidentified third car which had slowed to make a turn.

The other accident in Morrow County happened at 12:15 p.m. on U. S. Route 42, two miles south of Cardington. A car driven by Harry T. Green, 72, of Deerfield was slightly damaged when forced off the road by a car driven by Ross J. Dingman, 67, of London.

Reports show Dingman had made an effort to pass a third car as he was southbound. When Green who was heading north, came toward the Dingman car, he was forced off the highway.

Dingman was arrested and charged with driving left of the center line. He was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington.

Ford To Lay Off 3,100

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. will lay off 3,100 hourly employes when it shifts automobile engine-making from its River Rouge to its Dearborn plant shortly.

Ford, in announcing the layoffs last night, said it expects to absorb 450 of those laid off in other operations later.

Carelessness Criticized

Expert Says Men Dress Too Casually

NEW YORK (AP)—Does your wife take the spotlight away from you at a social gathering, mister?

If she does, it maybe isn't because she's wittier, prettier, or plays the zither better.

"It's probably because the wife dresses up—and the husband dresses down," said Stanley Goldman, a style expert.

"The American husband has to wake up and dress up—and take his share of the spotlight. The single man today is better dressed because he is still on the . . well . . . on the market. The married man is too inclined to say, 'Oh, why dress up? My wife will take me as I am.'"

Goldman feels this is all wrong.

"The American man never was more conscious of his figure than today, and never was in better shape," he said. "He is getting taller and less portly all the time, and there is no reason why he has to look sloppy."

It is the average man's summertime uniform — moccasins, unpressed slacks, and three-year-old sport shirts—that depresses Goldman most.

"Men are getting too casual in their dress," he observed. "The ordinary husband buys only seven eighths of a suit a year, but a white collar worker needs at least two new suits a year to look presentable on the job."

Goldman, style director for Eagle Clothes, is a student of geographical differences in men's clothing, and can tell what part of the country a stranger comes from by glancing at his suit.

"In the East they want a slim, trim look with natural shoulders, slightly squared, and the big color right now is charcoal gray," he said.

"In the South they go for a suit with patch pockets, and the favorite color is tan. In Chicago a suit with square patch pockets and a fish mouth lapel is tops.

"On the West coast they want to look bigger, baggier and shaggier."

A New York style generally takes about six months to dazzle Chicago, a year to overawe the South, and two full years to invade and conquer the West coast.

"Nobody really can tell the West coast what to do," remarked Goldman wryly.

These varying regional tastes make the men's clothing industry something like a roulette game. Each season you have to guess the right number.

Since Goldman is such a stout advocate of having the husband dip deeper into the family clothing budget, I asked him if he favored men wearing mink.

"It's been tried," he said. "But mink shrinks when blended with wool, and doesn't wear well enough. But wool and beaver overcoats for men are working out well."

Goldman was wearing a narrow necktie and a slim trim dark suit. I was inhabiting at the moment my favorite bigger, baggier, and shaggier tweeds.

"Can you guess the price of a suit by looking at it?" I asked him.

"Yes."

"How much did I pay for mine?"

"Sixty dollars — give or take five," he said immediately. I felt crestfallen. The suit had set me back exactly $65.

"What do you think of it?" I asked.

"To change the subject," said Goldman, "there is no reason why the American husband has to dress in a sloppy manner."

Is that a way to change a subject?

Eisenhower, Son Plan Round of Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower, nearing the end of his Thanksgiving holiday, booked another round of golf with his soldier son today.

The President and Maj. John Eisenhower got in 18 holes at the Augusta National course yesterday. Their scores weren't disclosed but the chief executive reportedly was the winner.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, here since Tuesday, are scheduled to return to Washington tomorrow night. Their son, his wife and the three Eisenhower grandchildren will return to Ft. Benning, Ga., where the major is stationed.

Bear Hunter Gets Lost, Falls Off Cliff, Is Burned

BLOSSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Robert Milheim, 25, of Woodridge, N. J., didn't shoot anything on his bear-hunting trip, but he:

1. Became separated from his companions and got lost in a dense fog.
2. Wandered to the edge of a 20-foot cliff and toppled over.
3. Lighted a fire to get warm and his trousers caught fire.
4. Was found by his friends just as he was about to step into a bear trap.

... better bathing, a radiant complexion
So clean feeling in the bath . . . A refreshing beauty bath in water softer than rain is yours whenever you wish. A bath in the creamy, lasting, soft water suds is an experience you'll never forget. You'll feel every pore being thoroughly cleansed . . . and the suds rinse off in a jiffy, leaving you feeling really clean all over.
With no more "BATHTUB-RING" . . . The old-fashioned but very familiar "bathtub-ring" is not dirt. It is soap curd formed when soap tries to soften hard water. With soft water service there is no curd formed . . . and no ring. Just think of the time and scouring powder you'll save when you clean the bath room.
. . . and so saving, too.
SOAP. Thousands of households have proved that softened water saves soap—sometimes half, usually more. Ask to see our amazing soap test that proves just how much you can save.
WATER HEATING. You save substantial amounts of fuel used for heating water—often as much as 50%—with softened water and scale-free heating coils.
PLUMBING BILLS. You banish scale and clogged pipes when you have soft water service installed in your home. You also stop annoying faucet drips caused by scale. Saves repairs, too.

Reservists To Get New Assignments

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Army reservists with no previous combat experience will get specific mobilization assignments next year under a new plan the Army is testing.

The Army said yesterday the men will be assigned to regular Army units or installations, or to National Guard or organized reserve groups near their homes. The test will last from January through June and be held throughout each of the six Army areas, the Army said. Reservists chosen must have at least six years obligated service remaining.

COLLECTOR'S COMPLAINT

ORLAND, Calif. (UP) — Leone Penna, Orland's garbage collector, figures his customers have him coming and going. At a recent city council meeting, Penna complained the people were not paying their garbage collection bills. One councilman asked him if he sent out bills. "What's the use?" Penna lamented. "If I sent a bill they would throw it in the garbage can and then I'd have to haul my own bill to the city dump."

PARALYZED VET FLIES SOLO. Sammy Gregorio, 26-year-old quadraplegic from Philadelphia, is lowered into a plane at Richmond, Va., for a solo flight. His instructor, Hunter Jones, who modified the plane so Sammy could pilot it, works the chain hoist which eases Gregorio into the cockpit. The veteran, who was wounded during World War II, is able to fly because he retains the use of one weak muscle in each arm. Except for that all four appendages are useless. He is hospitalized by the Veterans Administration in Richmond.

TWINS DELIVER TWINS. It was a case of really seeing double at Philadelphia's Episcopal Hospital when identical twins, internes Herbert G. Lockhart, 23, (left) and his brother, Gordon N. Lockhart, aided in the delivery of identical twin brothers, Peter (left) and Paul Derricks. The Derricks twins were born to Mrs. Joseph Derricks, who has six other children.
